YANKS DEFEAT CARDS, 10 TO 5; RUTH KNOCKS THREE HOMERS

HIGH WATERS INUNDATES 100 CITY BLOCKS

Scores of Families Homeless in Beardstown, Ill.; Situation Becomes Acute

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Oct. 6.—With more than a hundred square blocks of the city already submerged and scores of families homeless, the flood situation of central Illinois became more acute today.

Early this morning, the overflowing waters of the Illinois river and Lost creek began to slowly creep over the Springfield road, Beardstown's last outlet to the surrounding country.

Flood workers estimated that this road will be completely covered by tomorrow.

Some of the city's streets are already covered by more than four feet of water. Temporary wooden sidewalks are being erected to allow pedestrians to move about in the downtown districts.

Taxi boats are being used to convey persons about the town.

Reports reaching here from Peoria, Whitehall, Carrollton and other nearby cities state that the lowlands of the Illinois river in those sections are completely submerged and that workers are constantly patrolling the levees, repairing them with sandbags.

KANSAS, OKLAHOMA FLOODS REDEED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 6.—Reconstruction work in flooded south Kansas and northern Oklahoma started in earnest today, as water left streets of cities and all flood danger was reported past. Oklahoma's death toll stood at six, with four drowned yesterday.

ELK HILLS LEASE RESTS WITH COURT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The U. S. supreme court today had under advisement the Dohney Elk Hills oil lease annulment suit, in which arguments had been completed by Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, for the government, and by Frank J. Hogan and Frederic Kellogg, for Dohney's Pan-American Petroleum companies.

Roberts sketched yesterday events leading up to delivery of valuable oil leases to the Dohney companies by Secretary of the Interior Fall, in seeking to show that fraud and lack of proper authority were involved.

Members of the court seemed most interested in the transfer of $100,000 from Dohney to Fall in the "little black bag" incident and in Dohney's statement before the senate committee that he expected to make $100,000,000 profit from the lease.

Roberts charged the navy with attempting to get oil storage tanks without congressional sanction.

GERMAN ARMY CHIEF QUILTS, DUE TO STRIFE OVER PRINCE

(By United Press)

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—General von Seeckt, commander-in-chief of the German army, today submitted his resignation because of the uproar which has resulted from the revelation that Prince Wilhelm, eldest son of the former crown prince, participated in the recent army war games in Wurttemberg.

Young Wilhelm served with a Potsdam regiment and stopped at the hotel which was the headquarters of President von Hindenburg during his visit to Muenchen.

Republican and other anti-monarchist factions in Germany have been loud and vigorous in their protests against the presence of a Hohenzollern prince in the armed service of the reich. The incident immediately was seized upon by many persons as an indication that the army was being prepared for restoration of the Hohenzollerns to the German throne.

General von Seeckt has commanded the army since 1920.

Prison Guards Pursue Escaped Killer

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 6.—A heavy force of armed prison guards of Folsom state prison today was combing the rugged hills along the upper American river, in pursuit of Charles L. Hammond, slayer of Faustin Lasseres, in Fresno county, who escaped from the prison farm yesterday.

The slayer was one of the principals of the most sensational murder of a decade ago and his wife is serving a life term in San Quentin prison for the same murder.

He had served nine years of his life sentence.

WALNUT PRICE FOR 1926 SET AT 32 CENTS

Schedules Fixed at Meeting of Association in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—With an output of less than half the merchantable walnuts packed and shipped last year, the California Walnut Growers' association met here today and named the association's prices for the new crop. At the same time, the association expressed the belief that the trade will book everything that it has to offer within the next three days.

The opening prices, representing the association's quotations to the wholesale trade, are as follows: Diamond brand, large budded, 32 cents; medium budded, 25 cents; Diamond No. 1, 23 cents; Emerald brand, large budded, 28 cents; medium budded, 23 cents; Emerald No. 1, 25 cents; Emerald babies, 18 cents.

The 1926 harvest in California has been estimated at approximately 30,000,000 pounds, as compared with a crop of over 60 million pounds last year. Reports from all walnut districts in foreign countries indicate that foreign production also is considerably short of normal.

Easy 7 1/2 Per Cent Below

Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the association, who has just completed a personal survey of world production, reports that it is easily 7 1/2 per cent below average, while the buying power in this country is easily as strong as it was last year, because business conditions throughout the United States are quite satisfactory and labor is fully employed at good wages.

"Ordinarily," declared Mr. Thorpe, "a 10 per cent shortage in the production of any staple food product will reflect itself in a 30 to 50 per cent increase in the market price. The association recognizes this as an economic fact and has undertaken this year to offset it, as far as possible, by holding down to 50 per cent its advance over the opening prices of last year, when California production was overwhelmingly large and the world supply of walnuts was enormous."

Guard Against Consumer Strike

"It has been the experience of organizations marketing staple food products that the consumer reacts strongly to common-sense impulses, and that prices, which are unreasonably high, even though they prevail for but a brief period, will generally develop consumer resistance which is difficult to overcome."

"With the prospect of an unusually

Little Sign of War

The evangelist's clothes and shoes, as well as when he arrived in Douglas, showed slight traces of use, the district attorney contends.

McClellan admitted he had made efforts to recover the clothing in behalf of Mrs. McPherson. "I had been informed the McPherson case was all over," he said. "In fact, Mr. Keyes himself told me so. A request was made of me by telephone to back to me as to whether she was entitled to them, if the occasion for their use as evidence was past."

The testimony of Alonzo B. Murchison, sergeant of police at Douglas, was in the records of the hearing today. Murchison testified that an investigation of the desert in the vicinity of Agua Prieta, Mex., where the evangelist first appeared, failed to substantiate Mrs. McPherson's story of a 20-mile flight across the cactus country.

Ranger Finds Footprints

Murchison, an old-time desert ranger, declared he made every effort to find evidence to verify this version of the evangelist's story. He found tracks that indicated Mrs. McPherson walked from an automobile to a little house, three miles back from Agua Prieta, circled around the hut, and then walked into town. Beyond that, he could find no footprints, he said, asserting his belief that the evangelist had "planted herself" in the desert some time during the night prior to her appearance in Agua Prieta.

The hearing was adjourned late yesterday until tomorrow. Mrs. McPherson and her mother and co-defendant, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, motored to the beach for a rest during the recess. They were to return to Angelus temple to conduct services this afternoon.

29 U. S. Citizens In China Trapped

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Twenty-nine Americans have been trapped in the besieged city of Sian-Fu, where sporadic fighting is in progress between rival Chinese factions, according to state department dispatches. They have appealed for aid, but the American consul general at Hankow has reported that, owing to the inaccessibility of Sian-Fu, it is almost impossible to extend relief.

LOCATE NEW EVIDENCE IN KIDNAP CASE

Paper Located in Safety Deposit Box Called Damaging to Mrs. McPherson

DRAFT OF AFFIDAVIT

Statement Said to Be in Handwriting of Pastor; Will Summon McClellan

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—The district attorney's office today announced that "new and conclusive evidence, clinching the case against Mrs. McPherson and her mother," had been found in the safety deposit box of Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sellaf.

This was the original draft of Mrs. Wiseman's affidavit on the "Carmel hoax," which it is now claimed by the state was in the evangelist's own penciled handwriting.

Handwriting experts, it was declared, had definitely linked the rough draft of the alleged Carmel affidavit with Mrs. McPherson's handwriting.

New Charges Made

Charges that efforts had been made to obtain from the district attorney's office the clothing worn by Almes Sample McPherson, when she disappeared near Douglas, Ariz., last June, after a self-asserted escape from kidnappers, were made today by District Attorney Asa Keyes.

The prosecutor charged that R. F. McClellan, chairman of the county board of supervisors, sought to secure the evangelist's "desert garb" several weeks ago. McClellan will be called as a witness in the hearing of the evangelist on charges of criminal conspiracy, Keyes said.

The clothing is regarded as important evidence by the state to support its accusations that Mrs. McPherson did not make a 20-mile tramp across the Sonora desert, as she claims.

UNORDERED MERCHANDISE

To force the sale of unordered merchandise, a few questionable mail order houses and individuals are sending out unexpected packages.

"Who ordered these articles?" ask those who receive them. Handkerchiefs, ties, toilet articles and what not are being shipped into this vicinity by the hundreds.

Of course they are not gifts (as recipients hope as they open the package). "Keep these five initialed handkerchiefs worth $3.75 and send us only a dollar."

"Perhaps," you say to yourself, "my husband ordered these handkerchiefs." You find that he did not and has never heard of the house. Reliable mail order firms do not resort to discredited methods to sell their goods.

Send this merchandise back collect or write them a note to come and get it. Help stamp out this trickery and public nuisance by prompt action. A bill introduced in congress, when passed, will make this universally discredited practice illegal.

Doubtful merchandise and dubious values often go hand in hand with unordered goods.

CONTENDERS FOR PENNANT TIED AT CLOSE OF FOURTH GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

Mighty Bambino Sets Classic Record; New York Sluggers Hammer Four St. Louis Hurlers Off Hill

BABE'S BAT DECIDES BIG BATTLE

(By United Press)

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 6.—With a curious outburst of frenzied hitting, the New York Yankees squared the world series here this afternoon when they defeated the St. Louis Cardinals in the fourth game, by a score of 10 to 5. Inspired by the terrific clouting of Babe Ruth, who made a world series record by hitting three home runs, the entire Yankee team went on a hitting spree that just about used up the St. Louis pitching staff.

The game was witnessed by a crowd of 33,825, which set a new mark for St. Louis.

Ruth's first homer of the game and series came in the first inning, with two out and the bases empty, and created less excitement than any home run drive the Bambino ever made. It was a high fly into the right field seats and was so close to the foul line most of the customers thought it was a foul and kept quiet.

The Cardinals soon evened the count with a run on three clean singles to short, center and right, respectively, by Douthitt, Southworth and Hornsby, the first three men to face Hoyt. The latter then retired the side, on a pair of flies and a strikeout of Hefey, and the score remained tied until the third, when Ruth hit his second homer, driving it over the roof of the right field seats. This also came with two out and none on, and also was hit off the first pitch.

Rhem, therefore, had the unenviable record of having pitched two balls to Ruth and having them turned into home runs.

A walk to Lazzeri with none out and none on in the fourth was followed by a fly over short by Dugan. Hefey and Douthitt both tore after it and Hefey got his hands on the ball. But just as he did so, Douthitt crashed into him. Douthitt's right arm struck Hefey in the chest. The force of the impact was so strong the fans in the stands could hear them bump together. They fell back, completely winded and the ball fell from Hefey's hands. Douthitt came to first and tried to crawl to the ball but couldn't make it and Thevenow ran out and retrieved it but too late to prevent Lazzeri from scoring or Dugan from reaching second. Both players regained their breath and senses after a lengthy wait, and on the next play Douthitt showed he was all right by grabbing Severid's single and throwing it home in time to retire Dugan.

In the same inning the Cards scored three and took the lead. All three could have been prevented had Koenig not booted O'Farrell's double play grounder. This came to him on a nice hop after L. Bell had popped and Hefey had singled through the box. Koenig also had a chance to handle this hit but didn't come up with it. Thevenow followed Koenig's fumble of O'Farrell's grounder with a double that went over first and hugged the right field line. This scored Hefey and put O'Farrell on third. Topoverer batting for Rhem hit a short fly to Combs and the latter's weak throwing arm kept him from getting the ball home ahead of O'Farrell. Douthitt then patted a real double to

But a wild young southpaw soon had them drawing. Art Reinhart was called "om the bull pen to pitch the fifth and started by passing Combs. Koenig scored Combs with a pop fly back of first that fell safe and was kicked into a double by Hornsby. Reinhart then passed Ruth, Meusel and Gehrig in a row, forcing in Koenig. H. Bell came to Reinhart's rescue and was tagged for a sacrifice fly to right field by Lazzeri, which scored Ruth. Ruth's third homer was one of the longest he ever hit. Combs had beaten out a single. Bell fanned Koenig but Ruth, after getting in a three and two hole, laid the next one among the customers in center field.

From this point on the Yanks didn't make any particular effort to score.

MOTORMAN ON DEATH CAR NOT YET ARRESTED

Although a complaint, charging manslaughter has been filed in the Seal Beach justice court against J. E. Moody, motorman of the Pacific Electric train, which knocked three boys, sons of A. J. Wauson, Seal Beach, from the Los Alamitos bay bridge, killing two of them, Moody has not been arrested, it was learned today.

The district attorney's office here stated today that the Pacific Electric company had promised to have Moody in court when he is wanted.

Arraignment of the motorman is expected to take place in Seal Beach this afternoon or tomorrow morning, Dave Wetlin, deputy district attorney, said.

Moody is being held in connection with the death of Adrian Wauson, 6, one of the two brothers killed when the three boys were knocked from the bridge into the bay, 20 feet below. The body of Homer Wauson, 9, has not been found, and is thought to have been swept to sea by an outgoing tide.

Two of the boys escaped death,
but one of them, Thomas, was seriously hurt. Duane Wauson, 13, the oldest son, escaped injury by running to the end of the bridge and jumping to the sands below.

A national Kindness Week is about to be observed in Spain in connection with that nation's cennary of the death of St. Francis of large production next year, the association has made its prices as reasonable as is consistent with the production of quality products, in the expectation that there will be a quick response from the trade, and that the public will consume

so many walnuts during the holidays that the market will be bare and eager to receive next year's output.

Association officials estimate that this year's crop, which is now being harvested, is packed and started toward the market, will return approximately $9,000,000 to the California growers, but even with the highest prices prevailing this season, the growers will have a lean year, as their crops are generally so short.

even more fundamental have been accomplished mechanically.

Sentence Ruling Does Not Affect Procedure Here

Officials today admitted unfamiliarity with the procedure outlined in an opinion rendered by Attorney General U. S. Webb, for Tulare county, affecting the legal method of "reducing" sentences of prisoners serving county jail sentences.
The attorney general, in an opinion to District Attorney Leroy Mc-Cormick, of Tulare county, held that a sheriff has no right to reduce the sentence of a prisoner unless authorized by the county board of supervisors. In cases where prisoners are kept upon public works or in road crews, the supervisors may provide for reduction of their sentences, the opinion stated, but the sheriff cannot act upon his own responsibility.
District Attorney A. P. Nelson pointed out today that, in Orange county, the county parole board handles all matters of this nature. No sentence can be "reduced" by anyone, Nelson said. A prisoner can be paroled, that is all, he stated.

POISON POTION PROVES FATAL TO BEACH MAN

James Cargill, 48, employed in Seal Beach as a carpenter by the Edison company, died early today in the Orange County hospital, as the result of drinking a solution of bichloride of mercury more than a week ago.

Inquest into the death will be held at 4 p. m., today, in the Win-biger Mission Funeral home. An effort will be made to determine why the man swallowed the poison.
Dr. A. C. Robbins, Garden Grove, who attended Cargill September 29, after the latter had drunk the death potion, said today that he was under the impression that the man drank the bichloride of mercury by mistake.

Cargill is survived by his widow and four children.

STATE STARTS TESTIMONY IN GUN CLUB CASE

With the jury completed as court was ready to adjourn last night, the prosecution today started building up a wall of evidence around the Blue Wing Shooting club, which is on trial before Justice Andrew H. Wilson, in the Hall of Records, charged with wasting water.

The construction work upon the under more or less difficulty. While the state's legal carpenters are busy hammering it together, the defense wrecking crew is lustily trying to tear it down.

W. F. Slater, Wintersburg pioneer, was called to the witness stand this morning as the first half of a score of prosecution witnesses who will be summoned.

Tells of Visiting Preserves Slater testified to a visit he made with other prosecution witnesses to the shooting club's preserves last January 4, the date specified in the complaint against the club.

His testimony related to ponds and channels found upon the preserves, and he stated that the water was, to his knowledge, allowed to remain in the ponds from a date before the opening of the duck season in October. This was the custom of the club, he declared.

So far as he knew, the witness said, the club preserves had never, within 20 years, been utilized for agricultural purposes or propagation of fish, two of the beneficial uses outlined by the statute as excepting the use of the water from the designation of waste.

Only salt grass and alkali weed was on the premises when he visited there, he said.

Objections Are Frequent Defense Attorneys L. A. West and George P. Adams objected frequently to Slater's testimony and accused Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wettlin of "leading" the witness. They also objected to testimony regarding the property during the time covering more than a year before the date of the alleged offense.

The jury was completed late yesterday, with the acceptance of four members of a special venire that was summoned at 2 p. m.
yesterday. Two preemptory challenges had been exercised by the prosecution and four by the defense.

District Attorney A. P. Nelson joined Wettlin in the prosecution of the case today.

CHIEF SEA SCOUT TO VISIT COUNTY

James A. Wilder, chief Sea Scout of the Boy Scouts of America, with headquarters in New York City, will visit Orange county in the near future, on his way to Honolulu, according to word brought back by Roland E. Dye, scout executive of Orange county, who returned yesterday from Hot Springs, Ark., where he attended the national convention of scout executives.

Wilder, popularly known among his associates in the organization as "the admiral," is one of the foremost Boy Scout workers in the country. The Sea Scouts number about 30,000, distributed over the seaboards of the two coasts, Dye explained.

Dye was elected chairman of the regional conference covering the states of Arizona, Nevada, Utah and California for the year 1927.

Fix Printing Rate
The county supervisors late yesterday fixed the rate for printing the great register of voters for Orange county.

The twelve cents per allowance will be the compensation allowed the printers this year, the board decided.

URGENT MOUNTAIN ROAD INCLUDED IN U. S. SYSTEM

A resolution urging the U. S. district forester to declare the Elsimore-San Juan Capistrano road a part of the forest highway system, was adopted yesterday by the county board of supervisors.

As explained by T. E. Stephenson, who presented the resolution to the supervisors, the purpose of having the road declared a forest highway is to provide means for possible larger federal appropriations toward improvement of the road when the time comes for its improvement.
There is no plan for immediate action on the project, he said.

At present, it is said, any forest service appropriation for such a road would come from a certain fund and would be limited. If the road were a part of the forest highway system, it would be eligible for appropriations from a different fund, which would allow larger expenditures.

The resolution adopted by the supervisors calls attention to the fact that such a road would open up a large portion of the Cleveland
National forest.

INQUEST TODAY IN AUTO CRASH DEATH

J. W. Blee, 335 East Pine street, Santa Ana, who was killed Monday

p. m., today in the Winbiger Mission Funeral home, Coroner Charles
D. Brown announced today.

Mrs. W. C. Blee, his sister-in-law,

Occupants Of Car In Crash Are Arraigned

render aid after their automobile is alleged to have collided with a motorcycle ridden by Harry Gat-jens, 19, Anaheim youth, Jim Harris and Harry Dolbow, ranch workers, today were arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court and their preliminary examination set for October 13, at 10 a. m.

Neither of the defendants had made bail late today.

Gatjens is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital in a serious condition from injuries received in the accident which occurred near Irvine.
His motorcycle is said to have collided with the Dolbow car when the wheels on the automobile buckled, throwing it in the path of the motorcycle.

Gatjens is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and although his condition was reported today as improved, it was said to be serious.

Harris and Dolbow claim that they stopped and rendered aid to the injured motorcycle rider.

Bank of Italy

A bank that appeals to all classes

The Bank of Italy has attained much of its progress by establishing a banking service that appeals to all types of people.

Because of the widely known democratic spirit of the institution it has naturally attracted vast numbers of salaried people and others in moderate financial circumstances.

Yet, because of its unequalled statewide service, its super-facilities and great fi-commercial houses have selected it as their depository and business ally.

Thus, the Bank of Italy is truly Cal-

ALL EVIDENCE IN FRAUD TRIAL IS SUBMITTED

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Submissions of evidence in the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, on charges of conspiracy in connection with the return to Swiss companies of the $7,000,000 in assets of the American Metal company, impounded during the war as of German ownership, was completed today.

The defense unexpectedly closed its case at noon and it was believed that the case would go to the jury on Friday.

May Reach Jury Friday

It was understood that Col. William Rand, counsel for Miller, would sum up his case this afternoon, with summations from Max Steuer, counsel for Daugherty, and U. S. Attorney Buckner scheduled for tomorrow. Should that program be followed, Federal Judge Julian Mack would charge the jury on Friday, the end of the fifth week of the trial.

The financial relations of Mal and Harry M. Daugherty with the late Jesse Smith occupied the foreground in today's hearing.

Mal Daugherty, brother of the one-time attorney general, and president of the Midland National bank, of Washington Court House, O., went to the stand as a defense witness to be cross-examined by U. S. Attorney Emory R. Buckner. The bank president had testified yesterday that part of the $441,000 in Liberty bonds, that had been paid by Richard Merton, German financier, after the return of $7,000,000 in impounded assets to Swiss corporations, had found its way to the account of Jesse Smith, confidant of Harry M. Daugherty.

Two Accounts in Bank Buckner drew from the witness today the statement that Smith had two accounts in the Ohio bank, one "personal" and the other "extra," the latter involving money spent for political activities.

As executor under Smith's will, Mal Daugherty said he did not consider the "extra account" a part of Smith's estate and had transferred the funds remaining to a new account under the names "Harry M. and Mal E. Daugherty."

The witness testified that Smith's estate inventoried at $200,000, with $73,000 in Liberty bonds, and that among the bequests were included two of $25,000 each to the Daugherty brothers.

The Kingston, N. C., jail had a red-letter day recently when it booked its first prisoner wearing plus-fours. The jailer said the prisoner was charged with "nothing else grave."

Cooler, Less Wind, No Snow Thursday

To paraphrase the nursery rhyme:

"The north wind did blow and we had no snow
"And what will the flappers do now, poor things?"

E. E. Campbell, weather observer, said at 10 a. m., that today would not be as hot as yesterday, but that no one in Orange county should complain. On the top of the Los Angeles weather bureau quarters yesterday the mercury hovered at 98, 150 feet above the ground, while in Orange county, on the level, the best Old Sol could do was 96 degrees up.

Campbell said that the worst was over and by tomorrow the weather will have returned to the balmy state so well advertised by Californians.

Forecast for tomorrow: Cooler and not so windy, but no snow.

PERIL SEEN BY BANKING CHIEF IN PROSPERITY

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—The United States is enjoying a period of great prosperity, but this situation cannot continue until America has adjusted its affairs to the "unprosperous conditions" in other countries, Oscar Wells, Birmingham, Ala., president of the American Bankers' association, declared here.

Addressing more than 5000 representative bankers from all sections of the country, gathered here for the annual A. B. A. convention, Wells said:

"Although fundamental conditions are encouraging and prospects may well be considered fair, bankers know that sooner or later the growth of our expansion will receive a halt."

"So long as our industries expand normally, prosperity will be maintained. We have had, however, the experience of adjusting our affairs to the conditions of an unprosperous world, which we may continue to do with a fair degree of success if we will but maintain a regular distribution of goods among ourselves."

Sees Pitfalls on Way

"If we waste our capital; if we make a lot of unproductive investments on which there will be no returns for a long time; if, in the hope of quick profits, it becomes a common policy to use an undue amount of credit in proportion to capital, our prosperity wagon will inevitably break up in the ditch, as has often been the case in the past."

Wells urged continued support and expansion of the federal reserve system, and the creation of more and larger banking units. He said the future status of America's prosperity would depend upon the soundness of our credit structure.

"The country will do well to avoid the absorption of additional amounts of gold during the next several years," he continued. "To this end, it would be to our advantage, as well as to the advantage of the world, if more of the countries of Europe found a way to carry out their desires of re-establishing the gold standard."

Danger of Credit Inflation "As the chief creditor nation, we are interested in the spread of financial stability among other nations. Then, too, an inflation of credit here, with a consequent rise in prices, would have an unfavorable influence upon competitive trade position."

"We have passed through a remarkable era in the distribution of credit, and yet the opportunities for its employment at home and abroad for the expansion and operation of industry may exceed anything that we have yet seen or imagined."

"Will we be able to meet the requirements of this new situation? It may mean the creation of more and larger banking units. It would mean supporting and expanding the federal reserve system. Have we enough local bankers who are nationally-minded and a sufficient number of metropolitan bankers who can think in international terms?"

YOUTHS RIDING AUTO FENDERS TO BE NABBED

Persons who ride on fenders of automobiles, and on various parts of cars, other than the seats, are likely to find themselves under arrest, within a few days, according to a statement made by City Marshal Claude Rogers, today.

Rogers hit directly at school boys and girls, in making the statement, he admitted.

"There is a city ordinance that prohibits large numbers of persons riding on an automobile," he said, and when he said "on" instead of "in," he is correct, he pointed out, because these who are violating the law are the ones "on" the car and not "in" it.

Rogers' attention has been called, he said, to the fact that large numbers of high school boys and girls ride about the city streets, hanging on fenders, the backs and even on tops of automobiles. This is dangerous for the boys and girls, he said, and for that reason he intends to put a stop to it.

With several boys hanging on the outside of cars, as they speed through the city, Rogers pointed out the danger of one or more being knocked off by another machine, so, to safeguard them, he will order his officers to make arrests in such cases, he said.

Rogers said he had taken the matter up with school authorities, but that the practice seems to continue and that he would next order city motorcycle officers to enforce the city ordinance.

EQUIPMENT FOR the most attractive of bridal kitchens, was showered upon Miss Dorothy Whipple of South Flower street, at a recent afternoon party given for her by Mrs. F. A. Hunt, and Mrs. J. A. Lalonde, sisters of her fiancé, Oscar Lerzeler.

The pretty affair was given at the home of Mrs. Lalonde, 950 West Myrtle street, where pink and white carnations offered a charming floral effect in a large room with other decorative appointments. Among the entertainment offered was an interval devoted to offering advice to the bride-elect, a lively game, "A Lover's Romance," and two contests, a guessing game in which Mrs. H. Kenyon took a prize and a kitchen utensil contest in which another prize was presented Miss Alma Lalonde.

Then Miss Whipple was presented with her prize, a large box containing an assortment of useful and appropriate gifts for her future kitchen. The serving of raspberry ice and delicious cake by the hostesses, completed a happy afternoon. The marriage of Miss Whipple and Mr. Lerzeler is anticipated as an event of the near future.

Asked to enjoy the party complimenting the bride-elect were Mrs. F. A. Hunt and Mrs. J. A. Lalonde, hostesses, Mesdames A. Larzelere, F. Whipple, R. Morrison, T. Daniels, H. Kenyon, J. Winn, W. Hunt, the Misses Dorothy Whipple, honoree, Alma Lalonde, Adele Lalonde, Vera Morrison, and a group of little people including Dorothy Winn, Enid Kenyon, Frank Hunt, Marcella Lalonde and Norma Lalonde.

Club Friends Are Greeted at Surprise

Shades of autumn, reds, browns, and yellows, were used last night in the George Reed home, 1114 West Walnut street, when Mrs. Reed and her daughter, Miss Louella, entertained the Jolly Crew in honor of Mr. Reed, whose birthday it was. Mrs. Reed and Miss Reed were assisted in hostess duties by Mrs. R. E. Hall, who later in the evening provided the huge birthday cake covered with pink and white candies as a prominent feature of the refreshment hour.

The host's surprise as the guests entered his home was complete, as all plans for the party had been kept carefully from him. His surprise was greater when he was presented with a number of gifts. The evening passed rapidly with pleasant conversation and games. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Friends Take Part
In Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Barnes asked a group of old time friends to their pleasant home at 204 West Seventeenth street, on Monday, October 4, to aid them in the celebration of their wedding anniversary.

Interesting chat, happy reminiscences and delectable refreshments all did their share towards making it a happy occasion, and one which the guests hope will be repeated many, many times for their hosts.

Friends of long standing who enjoyed the event were Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Butterfield and children, Glendale; Mrs. R. W. Kimball, San Joaquin; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dodge and three children, Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Winger, Riverside.

Eastern Travelers
To Return Soon

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Mayhill, 1114 South Broadway, are anticipating their return to Santa Ana following the word received from them that they were to conclude their visit in Delphi, Ind., and start for California on Saturday, October 3.

They will be accompanied by Mrs. Mayhill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall DeMar, who plan to establish their home in this vicinity. The visit of the Santa Anans in their former home, has evidently been one round of pleasure, their old friends delighting to plan varied social events for their entertainment. One of the most recent of these was a musicale tea given at the Delphi Country club by Mrs. B. B. Mayhill with Mrs. N. E. Mayhill as honoree and some 60 guests asked to greet her and enjoy the program.

Early Appearance
At Dinner

The seasonal note of the evening was sounded with the arrival of the guests, who were greeted by a tall witch awaiting them on the front porch. Mrs. Roehm had contrived the weird creature by cleverly dressing a bridge lamp in ghostly habiliments. The entire home reflected the season as did the eight small tables where centerpiece, place cards, and all appointments were appropriate to "witches' night."

The dinner, a delicious three-course affair with chicken playing a leading part, was served by members of the family, Mr. and Mrs. George Paul Jr., (brother-in-law and sister of the hostess) Mr. and Mrs. Cornish Roehm, Mr. and Mrs. Lory Roehm and Miss Elizabeth Roehm, sons and daughters of the home.

Dinner Party Given
By Hosts Who Plan Departure

DOUBLE purpose was served in a delightful dinner party presented last night by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Miller in their friendly home at 2032 North Main street, for the hosts not only planned the courtesy to their friends as a temporary farewell before departing for a winter in the "Green Verdugo Hills" but also as an introduction to the Rev. James E. Hughes and his bride who will occupy their home while they are away.

The guests were confined to the hosts' close neighbors who will now be the neighbors of the young people whose wedding was an event of mid-summer. Mrs. Hughes was formerly Miss Nellie Irvine and her husband is assistant pastor of the First M. E. church.

The Miller home was bright with dahlias, the unusually beautiful blossoms having been grown by the host. The table around which the guests gathered for the enjoyment of an appetizing menu, was adorned with tiny flowers of the pompon variety.

Covers were laid for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rankin, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, Steele Finley and his daughter, Miss Carolyn Finley.

An evening of interesting chat followed with Mr. Hughes entertaining with a song group which included "At Dawning" and "Vivian Boat Song" among others. His richly beautiful voice delighted the guests as did the piano accompaniments played with spirit and understanding by Mrs. Hughes. Mr. and Mrs. Miller expect to be absent from the city for the next three months.

Santa Ana Youths
Reach Copenhagen

Those two intrepid Musketeers, Don Hillman and Robert O'Brien who left Santa Ana in late September with the intention of seeing the world and incidentally gaining experience that will be useful in their future line of work, have now reached Denmark, according to letters received by their parents, Mrs. Mary A. Hillman, 828 North Birch street, and Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien, 1002 South Birch street.

The young men sailed from Los Angeles harbor for Hawaii as their first objective and spent two weeks on the islands, seeing the various points of interest. Thence they sailed for Seattle and after visiting Canada and Washington cities continued eastward to Philadelphia where they saw the Sesqui-Centennial are going to New York.

They sailed from New York on the S. S. Caspar for Copenhagen, and announced that letters addressed to them at Ostergade No. 3, Copenhagen, Denmark, care of the S. S. Caspar, would reach them. From Denmark they expect to go to France, Germany and other continental countries with Rome as their final objective.

Both young men were Santa Ana Junior college students, O'Brien graduating last June. Hillman plans to visit the different countries with the view of studying theater management.

Executive Board of County Clubwomen

Buena Park yesterday welcomed the executive board members of the Orange County Federation of Women's clubs, whose meeting was called to order at 10 a. m. by the president, Mrs. Alex P. Nelson.

The session opened cheerfully with song, the members led by the county chairman of music, Madame Manuela Budrow, in singing "I Love You, California" and "How Firm a Foundation." Mrs. Houston of Costa Mesa, led in the flag salute and Mrs. L. L. Wiley, president of the hostess club of Buena Park, read "Meditation."

One of the session's interesting matters was the selection of dates for a series of reciprocity luncheons as follows: Costa Mesa, January 7; Garden Grove Civic club, January 21; Santa Ana Woman's club, March 29; Orange Woman's club, April 27.

Tentative plans for the southern district convention in Fullerton, November 16, 17 and 18, were made when it was announced that Dr. Marian Bertola, state president, would attend the sessions.

A pleasant and profitable year was foretold by the various presidents, who outlined individual club plans. Mrs. Joseph Thurston, president of Laguna Beach club gave an interesting account of the summer activities which yielded a $400 payment of a lot.

Madame Budrow talked on community singing and suggested a junior chorus for a county choral society. Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton told of convention plans for the coming year, and the care of delegates was discussed. It was also decided to hold a reception on the Tuesday night of the convention, the place to be announced later. Mrs. Walters of Fullerton will give information on rates and hotel accommodations.

Mrs. Nellie Terry as chairman of registration, will be assisted by Mrs. Houston of Costa Mesa and Mrs. W. H. Taylor of Huntington Beach. The banquet of the convention will be held in the Masonic temple on Thursday night, November 18.

Echoes of the Orange County fair were apparent in the decision to hold the proceeds from the ticket sale, for the Preventorium next summer. Mrs. C. F. Crose spoke on the juvenile home and asked the county clubwomen to familiarize themselves with the work and also the improvements that are being made there.

The county convention will be held October 22 at the Huntington Beach M. E. church, beginning promptly at 9:30 a. m. Clubwomen are asked to make their reservations as early as possible. The Huntington Beach club will serve luncheon at the clubhouse on Tenth street, and each club in the county is expected to be represented.

EXTENDING friendly greetings to a group of young people from her former home in Kansas, Mrs. A. M. Gardner welcomed members of her family and a group of tourists friends yesterday afternoon in her charming home at 323 East Washington avenue.

Two of the guests, Miss Laura Barndt of Sabetha, Kans., and Miss Masheter of Sabetha and San Diego, were in Los Angeles to attend the American Bankers' association convention, and Mrs. Gardner's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Price of Los Angeles, accompanied them out to Santa Ana. With them also were Miss Geneva Anders, Miss Miller and Miss Elliott of Denver who are touring California.

Mrs. Gardner asked her daughters, Mrs. Hollis Knowlton of Fullerton, Mrs. J. L. Clayton of Orange and Mrs. H. A. Gardner of this city, to join them, each young matron being accompanied by her children.

Flowers, refreshments and friendly chat combined to make the afternoon a happy one for travelers and home folk alike. The out-of-state guests continued their travels in the late afternoon, the other young people, joined by their husbands, remaining for an enjoyable home evening.

An engagement luncheon complimenting Dr. J. L. Wehrly and his fiancée, Miss Clara Conner of Orange, was arranged yesterday at the meeting of the Exchange club, with plans to stage the event two weeks from yesterday.

The members of the club will be accompanied to the luncheon by their wives, and discussed plans indicate that the session will be a lively one, particularly for the couple which the luncheon will honor.

Ridley Smith, Stanley Clem and G. K. Scovel were appointed as a committee to arrange a social affair for the club some time the latter part of this month. It is possible that a special Italian dinner will be prepared as one of the features of the function.

The organization is considering plans for a program for its annual inaugural ball to be held early in December, and in line with the development of a program, Ridley Smith submitted a scenario for a moving picture featuring the members of the club before the camera. He titled his play "The Spirit of Kiwanis". The cast will be chosen in a short time, with Don Juden of Yost's, doing the casting.

Nominations for the various offices in the club will be made at the meeting Tuesday, October 26, and election will follow in two weeks.

FOREIGN NUT CROP SHORT IS MARKET ADVICE

Some Sections Hold Up Over Last Year's Yield; French Prospects Bad

The latest report on the foreign walnut crop has just been received by Farm Advisor Wahlberg through the foreign crop and market advice issued by the bureau of agricultural economics, United States department of agriculture.

It points out that conservative trade estimates put the 1926 Rumanian walnut crop at between 55,000,000 and 65,000,000 pounds, against 40,000,000 and 45,000,000 pounds for 1925, according to Vice Consul Arnold at Bucharest. Practically all the crop is available for export. The crop enjoyed excellent weather during the spring and summer.

In southern Italy the walnut crop is expected to be large and of good quality, according to trade reports received in Rumania and forwarded by Vice Consul Arnold. The crop promises to be considerably better than average and will be dry enough to provide for early shipments well in advance of the Thanksgiving season.

In France, however, the cold and rainy spring weather is said to have had a disastrous effect upon the 1926 crop in the Bordeaux region, states Vice Consul Childs at Bordeaux in a report dated August 10. There has been much immature falling, and the crop is expected to be from one-fourth to one-third of that of 1925 for shelled walnuts and one-fifth to one-tenth of last year's harvest for Comest and Marbury. The 1925 Bordeaux walnut crop has been estimated at 150,000 sacks (110 pounds each) and 120,000 cases (55 pounds each).

The 1926 walnut crop of southern Italy is reported to be very good and of full normal size, says Consul W. H. Schoot of Naples. The crop has been delayed about two weeks by rains. The Sorrento grade is ready for harvest during the last two weeks of September.

CHINA GOVERNMENT COLLAPSES, CLAIM

HONOLULU, Oct. 6.—Organized responsible government in China has broken down and Silas H. Strawn, American delegate to the Chinese customs conference and member of the extrajudicial commission, is returning to Washington to report on his mission.

There is no government with which the powers can confer and all international relations of a special nature are at a standstill, Strawn indicated, when he stopped here.

The Washington conference treaties provided that China should have an increase in her maritime customs, which the powers control, and provided also that a commission of jurists should examine Chinese courts and determine whether foreigners should become subject to Chinese law.

Under old treaties, foreigners are tried by their own consuls or in special courts established by their governments.

TEAGUE AND MERRITT WILL SPEAK AT CONVENTION IN FULLERTON, NOVEMBER 9-10

A complete program for the two days farmers' and fruit growers' convention, to be held in Fullerton, November 9 and 10, has been arranged by George H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture. The program includes talks by some of the foremost experts in the state and will provide many instructive talks to the large number of farmers who are expected here at that time.

MANY SUBJECTS TO BE STUDIED BY CITRUS MEN

Orange county and Los Angeles county growers will be given an unusual opportunity during the week of November 15-20 to attend lectures and field demonstrations on all practical phases of citrus orchard management.

According to announcement from the office of Farm Advisor Wahlberg, arrangements have been completed by the citrus committee of the farm bureau and the college of agriculture to hold the session at the Fullerton high school. Announcement is made at this time so that growers may arrange their field work to get off during that week, for as many sessions as possible.

The subjects to be covered include tree physiology, irrigation, fertilization, pruning, soil problems, diseases, cultivation, orchard heating, and many other topics. Authoritative speakers have been secured for the course. The citrus associations are co-operating to make this event a real asset to the citrus industry in both counties.

Guarantors Of Fair Released From Obligation

Letters, releasing the guarantors of the 1925 Fair, were mailed out by Secretary A. M. Stanley this week. The fair has now been incorporated and when it undertook the recent success the corporation purchased the equipment of the old association at inventory prices.

The equipment of the 1925 association inventoried at a few hundred dollars more than the indebtedness, which shows an ultimate profit on the 1925 show and makes it possible to release the guarantors. The profit has been reinvested in the equipment now held by the corporation as there was no way in which the profit could be returned to a greater benefit to the people.

In thanking the guarantors for their co-operation, Mr. Stanley said, in part: "Your co-operation has made it possible to hold these assets for the use of future fairs and the results so far have been very gratifying. Thus, you have had an important and integral part in producing the last big successful event and the satisfaction of that success belongs largely to you and your co-operation. We thank you and sincerely hope that you will extend the same hearty support to our successor, the Orange County Community Fair, Inc."

SWEET POTATO MEN TO HAVE FIELD SESSION

Growers to Meet Oct. 29 At Ranch of H. C. Hickman; To Discuss Storage

By RAYMOND ELLIS
Assistant Farm Advisor

Arrangements have just been completed by the agricultural extension service of Orange county to hold a sweet potato growers field day on Friday, October 29. This meeting will be held on the ranch of H. C. Hickman, three miles west of Santa Ana, on Fifth street. The entire day will be taken up with discussions by various growers and university experts on problems which confront the growers of this county.

One of the main problems in this county is one of storage by means of which the price of sweets will be held on a more even basis. There are various methods of storing potatoes, and some of these methods are more effective than others. An ideal storage house can be built at a very small cost to the grower and this cost will be returned many times over during a season of high production. Many growers are forced to sell at harvest time, thus causing prices to go down, while if storage facilities were available they could take advantage of the much higher prices three or four months later. Much valuable information on price trends and cost of storage will be presented at this field day.

There is considerable disease to be found in the sweet potato field this year. Much of this could have been eliminated. The selection of seed to prevent disease is another subject which will be discussed at this field day.

Recommended standards for beans were issued by the United States department of Agriculture effective September 1, 1926. The standards embody slight revisions from the tentative standards issued in August, 1925.

Increased German demand for hard, bread-making wheat and the higher grades of American cotton, but with little likelihood of an immediate increase in demand for foreign pork, dairy products and meats is reported by William A. Schoenfeld of the department of agriculture.

Although the number of fires reported each year in Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin increased on the average more than 100 per cent from 1915 to 1924, the increase in reported area burned during the time averaged only a negligible amount, according to studies of the Lake States Forest experimental station.

Increased supplies of dairy products and meats in cold storage Sept. 1, this year, compared with the same time last year, and decreased supplies of poultry and eggs are shown in the department of agriculture report.

MEXICO BUYS U. S. STOCK

Nine carloads of high-grade stock have been purchased from farmers in central Wisconsin by the Mexican government. The stock includes 200 head of cattle, 500 chickens, 100 hogs, 50 sheep and a herd of goats.

WANT NEW SEED STOCKS

Illinois farmers are now investigating new wheat seed stock varieties because of the damage resulting from the past unfavorable growing season. Tests are being conducted on the DeKalb county experiment field for the northern part of the state.

BALDWIN APPLES

More than half of the trees in the commercial orchards of New Hampshire belong to the Baldwin variety, according to a survey of practically every orchard of 100 or more bearing trees in the state, which has been conducted by the University of New Hampshire Experiment station.

of the freight sent through Van Nuys will go direct to Los Angeles and thence be shipped to eastern markets. Most of the baby lima bean crop has been harvested and is in warehouses ready for shipment. Returns to growers will be about the same as last year. While the acreage and the price are smaller, the output per acre is much larger than last season.

By-Products of Cocoa Made Into Fertilizer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Two important cocoa by-products are now being produced in large enough quantities to be available as fertilizer materials. These are cocoa press cake and solvent extracted cocoa.

Although the cocoa by-products are inexpensive enough to use as fertilizer materials there is considerable demand for the by-products for use as feed stuffs and as sources of the obromine alkaloid and caffeine.

FARM BUREAU LEGISLATIVE BILL FAVORED

The populous cities will have a two to one advantage in the matter of legislation, even though the federal plan of reapportionment of legislative representatives is carried, according to J. J. Dwyer, prominent walnut and orange grower of Anaheim. Mr. Dwyer accounts for this condition by calling attention to the fact that the governor, which constitutes a third branch of state government is elected by popular vote.

"This is an important point which is being overlooked by our city friends," continued Mr. Dwyer. "The governor is a very important part of the government, and he will be elected in the future by the same voting population that elects the assembly under the federal plan of apportionment. This actually gives the urban population the control of two branches, while the rural territory will only have a proper voice in the senate."

Poultry Houses Should Be Well Lighted, Advice

By W. M. CORY,
Assistant Farm Advisor

Artificial lighting of poultry laying houses is of American origin. It was used on the assumption that fowls do not require more hours of rest in winter than in summer and that if artificial lighting were used in winter to produce similar conditions of daylight and darkness as exist in spring and summer, increased production would result.

Extended experiments and field observations have demonstrated that artificial lighting will stimulate egg production, provided the flock is intelligently fed. It does not appear to increase the production but increases the winter production at the expense of spring production. Thus, the value of this practice is an increased production in winter when eggs are higher in price, bringing a higher annual income per hen.

Since artificial lighting but lengthens the working day so that the hen can eat and exercise more, it cannot be considered in the same sense as a drug or stimulant. No ill effects should be experienced other than that a slump in egg yield, followed by a more or less severe molt earlier in the spring. Very moderate use of lights, if any, should be practiced on breeding flocks for best results in fertility and hatching of eggs. The hens appear to require the winter period of light production to build up their strength for a large yield of quality hatching eggs.

The cost of running the lights need not exceed two cents a day for 150 hens, burning for four hours.

Installation of lighting systems, housing and labor saving devices are to be discussed in a poultry tour scheduled for October 7. The day's program will start at the Hatch and Campbell ranch at 10 a. m., of that date. An hour will be spent here listening to several speakers and inspecting the plant. The next stop to be made at the Cole ranch on Hanson road, one-half mile south of Hanson. Lunch will be eaten at the Hunt and Lucas ranch, one-half mile east, one-half mile north of Cypress. Coffee, cream and sugar are to be furnished by the Cypress farm center.

The day's program has been arranged by the agricultural extension service and the poultry department of the farm bureau.

NEED BETTER SOIL

"Some of the farmers who believe in cover crops make the serious mistake of planting them on such poor land that a good growth is not possible," says E. C. Blair, extension agronomist at the North Carolina state college.

KALE FEEDS COWS

The common cow kale, one of the best producers of feed in western Oregon, is an important source of mineral for dairy cows. High yielding fields of kale make cheap feed for Oregon dairymen.

PROBLEMS OF THE SOIL

Q. We have a large white fig tree which starts out with an enormous crop of figs. Only a few dozen mature and the rest cease growing and drop off. Have read in this column something about bees in connection with fig trees. Can you tell me what is wrong? Have been here two years and know very little about fig trees.—Mrs. A. M. K.

A. It is possible that the fig is a Smyrna and, if so, the fruit will not mature without caprification (pollination). The fact that a few fruits do mature, however, indicates that it is not of this type, or else only a few of the pollinating insects (Blatophaga wasps) reach the tree. These insects are very small, living over winter in what are called wild figs or capriffs. In the spring or early summer they issue from the capriffs, covering themselves with pollen in the process, and enter the eye of young Smyrna fruits, if they are available, and so pollinate them. This is why capriffs must be planted near Smyrna figs, or else the wild figs must be obtained at the proper time and hung up in the Smyrna trees so that the wasps, when they issue, may enter the young Smyrna fruits. If the latter are not so pollinated they will wither and fall without maturing.

Assuming that your tree is not a Smyrna, the trouble may be caused by over-irrigation. Do not irrigate too much. More figs are ruined by excessive irrigation than by the lack of it. Occasionally weather conditions are responsible for fruit dropping also. If you have only had the tree in question for two years it may be that different treatment will make it mature more fruit another season. If it lacks vigor try fertilizing it this fall or early in the spring.

Q. I would appreciate some information about fig culture; when and how often to water, about pruning and the kind of fertilizer, if any, is necessary.—J. N.

A. The amount of water to apply to figs and the frequency of irrigations depends somewhat upon the variety of fig and the type of soil. Kadotas, for example, are less apt to split and sour than are other varieties, and can be given more water than such figs as Brown Turkey or Adriatic. Trees growing in heavy soils will need less water than those on light, well-drained soils. Excess of water results in soggy soil and the almost sure splitting of the fruit, especially during years when there is more atmospheric moisture than usual. Dr. Cory, who is an authority on fig culture, recommends specifically as follows:

"During the ripening season, do not let the soil moisture (average six feet) increase to more than 30 per cent of the moisture equivalent. Heavy soils are best for figs because the moisture content is less sudden to sudden fluctuations. The best way to get size and quality is by manuring and cultivating rather than by irrigating. If water is necessary apply it not later than April."

No definite rule as to frequency of irrigations can be laid down other than to give water rather sparingly during the period the fruit is swelling and ripening. The soil itself and the condition of the tree should be your guide, never allowing the former to become soggy or waterlogged nor the latter to dry and drop its leaves.

Such varieties as Kadota are headed rather low and kept that way by a heavy annual cutting back during the dormant season. Most varieties, however, require little pruning other than to cut away low-lying or interfering branches. The old wood should occasionally be thinned out to encourage new growth and long branches sometimes can be cut back to induce new laterals. Always cut back to a strong side branch or lateral when pruning.

If the soil is depleted build it up with ordinary barnyard manure, applying it in the fall, either turning it under at once or very early in the spring.

Q. What does the nematode resemble? Very often, when cultivating, a peculiar bug is found in the soil which is foreign to me. Since reading your column I have fears that they may be nematodes.—MRS. N. E. S.

A. Fortunately, your fears are probably without foundation. In the first place, nematodes are so small that, except in the case of the females swollen with eggs, they cannot be seen without the aid of a microscope. The results of nematode infestation readily can be discerned, but not the actual worms. When your plant roots are entered by these minute pests an irritation is set up that produces small round knots or nodules. These vary from the size of a pinhead to that of a pea or larger. On soft roots, particularly those of such plants as tomatoes or beans, large swellings may result, the roots being swollen and roughened out of all resemblance to their normal condition.

If a diseased root or nodule is broken open one may sometimes see what appears to be a tiny white pear-shaped grain of sand therein. This is a female nematode. The males and immature females are shaped much like eels, being worm-like, round and pointed at both ends, hence their common name, eel-worm. Anything you can actually see in your soil without the aid of a glass and not in connection with a plant root is not the root-knot nematode.

Q. I want to get some peach trees and grapevines from Arkansas and some strawberry plants from Michigan, but I hear it is against the law. Please advise if this is so.—S. R.

A. Peach trees cannot be admitted into California from Arkansas,

DAMAGE FROM DESERT WINDS MAY BE CURBED

Ample Moisture Necessary For Success During Dry Periods, Says Wahlberg

By E. H. WAHLBERG
Farm Advisor, Orange County

The season of desert winds is upon us. From the citrus growers standpoint, it is essential to good management to put the orchard in such condition that will minimize the effect of the dry blasts. That means to have ample moisture available to the tree throughout its entire root distribution. If the roots have made a thrifty growth during the season, as a result of conservative irrigation methods, they should, at this time of the year, be able to take up and absorb sufficient moisture from the soil to meet the needs of the tree, unless, of course, the wind attains an unusual velocity, combined with an extremely low humidity.

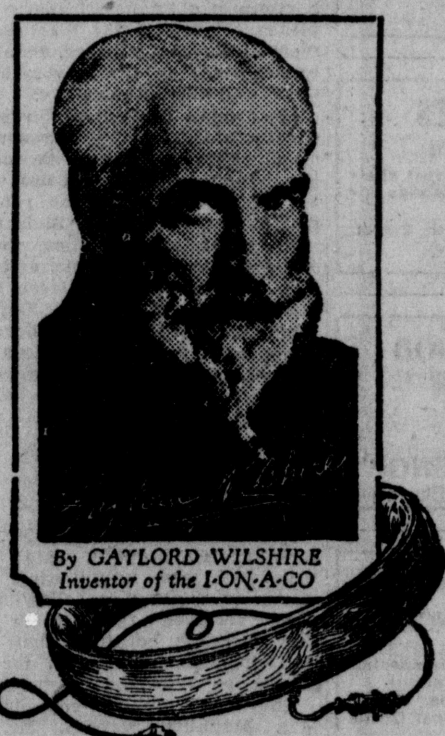

Observations and records secured by the agricultural extension service during the past seven years in Orange county show that groves in normal condition, that are supplied with ample soil moisture during October, November and December, withstand better winds than the groves that are shy of soil moisture during this period.

The vigor of the root system has a considerable bearing on the relationship of moisture to wind damage. If the roots have suffered from excessive irrigation during the spring months and early summer, their weakness will of course be reflected in their inability to take up the moisture fast enough to defeat wilting. It is for this reason that the continued emphasis is placed on the irrigation practice in the early part of the year. It has a direct bearing on the behavior of citrus trees during the fall desert winds. So, at this time, to the grower we say, get out the soil auger, see if the moisture is abundant through the entire depth of the root zone. If it shows dry, get the water on, and reduce the possibility of wind injury.

SHEEP TICK DANGERS
Sheep and lambs should be carefully examined for ticks and all these pests should be destroyed before cold weather, says B. S. Warwick, parasitologist at the Ohio Agricultural experiment station.

SEEDING EXPENSIVE
The farm value of the seed required to plant Ohio's 11,000,000 acres of the six major crops of corn, hay, wheat, oats, rye and soybeans is estimated at more than $10,000,000.

LABOR TALKS FROM PULPITS NOT PERMITTED

(By United Press)
DETROIT, Oct. 6.—Third-day deliberation of the American Federation of Labor convention were featured today by charges of "sinister influence," issued by President William Green, following withdrawal of invitations to labor speakers to appear in pulpits of the city next Sunday.

The charges were directed against the Detroit Board of Commerce, whose board of directors on September 27, issued an open letter to "churchmen of Detroit," protesting against the invitations and demanding an equal hearing for "the open shop," if they were not withdrawn. Furthermore, an invitation to President Green from the Y. M. C. A. to address a mass meeting Sunday afternoon has been cancelled by the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A., with the announcement that the action was prompted by the existing controversy over the labor situation here.

What official action may be taken by the convention in recognition of the church incident remained for the day to develop. Delegates pointed out that nothing comparable to it ever had occurred in a convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Today's order of business, aside from possible recognition of the withdrawal of speaking invitations, was expected to follow the routine of committee work on resolutions. Thus far but one resolution, supporting the striking garment workers of New York has been passed by the convention.

FRESNO GIRL IS FEATURED WITH SELLS-FLOTO CIRCUS

Miss Effie Rairdon One of Talented Young Women With Big Show

Women play important parts in circuses, as those who go to the big show, the Sells-Floto circus, next Friday, will find.

Some of the Sells-Floto women most worthy of mention are Irene Ledgette, Erma Ward, Maude Edwards, Ruby Orton and Effie Rairdon.

Miss Ledgette possesses one of the most wonderful of circus wardrobes, is known as the fashion plate of the circus and startles the crowds by her daring work with a herd of elephants

In the center ring.

Erma Ward, with red, bobbed hair, is the show's wonder girl, and, at the conclusion of her colorful and unique act on the silver rings, turns a hundred or more aerial somersaults in mid-air while dangling by one slim wrist without a net beneath her.

Maude Edwards, riding side saddle on her own horse, "Kirby," does the dangerous waltzing rear-backs up and down the arena track.

The girl in the picture is Miss Effie Rairdon, of Fresno. While Miss Ledgette works the elephants in the center ring and Miss Ray Bailey works a herd in one end of the big tent, pretty Effie handles a herd in the other end of the tent.

TAX CUT SEEN AS BIG FACTOR IN PROSPERITY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—Tax reduction has been one of the principal factors contributing to the current prosperity of the country, Garrard B. Winston, undersecretary of the treasury, told the American Bankers' association convention here today.

Strict economy in the administration of the national government has brought about a prompt deflation of the high war values, and a commensurate increase in the business activity of the country, Winston said.

The undersecretary declared that an annual surplus of $100,000,000 constituted a properly balanced budget, and that, when this had been assured, and not before, the nation could look to further tax reduction.

"The treasury has shared abundantly and the revenues this year will more than meet the cost of government," said Winston. "The previous cuts in taxes have been possible because of strict economy which has brought about war-cost deflation promptly and the increasing business activity of the country which has followed."

"If a full year's trial of the present taxes justifies the belief in a higher surplus than $100,000,000 for several years, the excess should go to tax reduction, but below that margin, and before we have that assurance, we should not go."

"A cut in taxes, other conditions being equal, works a loss of revenue, not for one year, but for every year, whereas surplus may be an isolated phenomenon appearing in one year and not in the next. It is for this reason that the government, whatever it may have received in past years, cannot afford to reduce its revenues below its expected expenditures in future years."

The McFadden national banking bill, minus the Hull amendment, was endorsed by the American Bankers' association, in a special session, by a vote of 413 to 288. The vote was taken at 1 o'clock this morning, following heated discussions throughout the night.

The McFadden bill, now before congress, provides for several currency revisions, including rechartering of the federal reserve system. The Hull amendment, which was rejected by the bankers, would restrict branch banking by national banks.

The vote against the Hull amendment is a reversal of the previous stand of the bankers.

The following restrictions upon the resolutions adopted by the bankers:

1. That no national bank be permitted in any state to establish a branch beyond the corporate limits of the municipality in which the bank is situated.

2. That no national bank be permitted to establish a home-city branch in any state which does not at the time of such establishment permit state banks to establish branches.

3. That no state bank be permitted to enter or retain membership in the federal reserve system if it has in operation any branch which may have been established, after the enactment of the McFadden bill, beyond the corporate limits of the municipality in which the bank is situated.

4. That no branches, which may have been established after the enactment of the McFadden bill, beyond the corporate limits of the municipality in which the parent bank is situated, be permitted to be retained when a state bank converts into or consolidates with a national bank, or when two or more national banks consolidate.

JEROME SEEKS STATE POSITION IN ELKS LODGE

In the opinion of many members of Santa Ana lodge, No. 794, B. P. O. E., W. C. Jerome, county auditor, and a past exalted ruler of the lodge, will be a successful candidate for the position of trustee of the California Elks' State association, the annual meeting of which now is in progress in Santa Monica.

The election of officers will be held Friday. It is understood here, Jerome has been prominently mentioned for some months as the Santa Ana lodge's candidate for membership on the board of trustees and it is asserted that he has gained a strong following.

Jerome and E. R. Majors, secretary of the Santa Ana lodge, will attend the conference as delegates from the lodge. They probably will go to the convention city Friday.

If elected, Jerome will succeed David Ault, of Calexico, who has been appointed a district deputy.

Elks from all over the state have registered at headquarters in Santa Monica. The business sessions are being held in the municipal auditorium, Ocean Park.

The annual band concert for the state Elks' championship will be held at 2:30 p. m., tomorrow, in the plaza, Santa Monica, and the convention dinner dance, fashion show and vaudeville program will be held tomorrow night, starting at 7 o'clock, at the Edgewater club.

FAST DRIVERS ARE CAUGHT IN SCHOOL ZONES

When the roll of alleged violators of state traffic laws is called in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, at 10 a. m., Friday, 14 of the names will be of persons who are alleged, during the last week, to have speeded through school zones, according to the records of Capt. Henry C. Meenan, of the state traffic department.

Ten motor cops, during the last week, have been guarding the school zones throughout the county, with the result that scores of motorists have been warned of their speed through these safety zones, and 14 have been arrested.

Whether a heavy punishment is awaiting those who disregard the safety of school children, will be seen when Morrison deals with them in court, but from a statement made today by the justice, anything but leniency can be expected.

"I won't say just what I expect to do with those found guilty of speeding through school zones," the justice asserted. "It will all depend on the nature of their cases whether they go to jail or not."

Several $30 fines have been meted out by Justice Morrison recently for speeding through school zones, and the minimum fine has been $5, this coming very rarely, however.

Captain Meenan said today that the drive against speeders in school zones would continue, probably for two weeks. After that time, he said, officers would watch zones two days each week. He did not designate the days.

Bids will be opened by the county supervisors on October 13, at 11 a.

m. in connection with the contract to install a new water pump for the Orange County Water Works district No. 3, Garden Grove.

According to County Surveyor Warren K. Hillyard, who is engineer for the district, the new pump is in the way of a finishing touch to one of the best small city water systems in the county.

The district has just completed a new $100,000 water tank, which was recently filled and now is in use. Several months ago, a new deep water pump was installed and now a second pump is contemplated.

England is exporting motor cars at the rate of $1,000 a year.

ORANGE COUNTY HAS BEST CARS IN CALIFORNIA. FIGURES SHOW

Board of Equalization Reveals Assessed Automobile Value is Highest Here

AVERAGE WORTH OF MACHINES IS $500

Owners Will Pay This Year Approximately $475,000 In Taxes on Vehicles

Orange county today again stepped into the limelight of publicity as one of the most prosperous counties in the state, when the state board of equalization revealed, in Sacramento, that the average automobile in Orange county is better than the average in any other county in the state.

This is the inference contained in the board's announcement that the average assessed value of $500 each on automobiles in Orange county is the highest of any county in the state. The county is credited by the board with 29,000 machines and, on the basis of an average assessed value of $500, the machines would have a total value of $14,500,000 on the tax rolls of the county.

Owing to the fact that various tax rates are effective in different subdivisions of the county, it is difficult to compute the full amount of taxes paid by the owners of the 29,000 machines. Special funds exist in various cities and communities. However, it is believed that $3.25 on the $100 of assessed valuation is a fair rate for an average of the county. Figured at this rate, the owners will pay, this year, in taxes on their vehicles, a sum approximating $475,000.

The report of the board discloses that the more than 1,061,272 automobiles and motor vehicles in the state were assessed at $220,210,280, a marked increase over last year's $84,504 automobiles with a total valuation of $209,063,712.

Los Angeles county showed 421,017 automobiles and an assessed valuation of $91,933,215. Alameda county ranks next, with 95,000 automobiles, assessed at $19,000,000, with San Francisco third, with 72,325, valued at $20,975,410.

Tomatoes Stolen By Park Thieves

Approximately 140 boxes of tomatoes, owned by James Shears, Buena Park, were stolen last night, from a place where they were stored beside the road, near Buena Park, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office.

The tomatoes, 40 boxes of canner tomatoes and 100 boxes of green tomatoes, were valued at approximately $75.

Dan Adams, deputy sheriff, is investigating.

PIONEER EPISCOPAL CHURCH OF COUNTY WILL CELEBRATE HALF CENTURY OF SERVICES

Next Sunday, October 10, St. Michael's, the Episcopal church in Anaheim, will celebrate its 50th anniversary.

They Enjoy Looking Down on Series

Every year there are several prominent Santa Ana citizens who "look down" upon the world series. The strange fact is that these persons look down upon it with the utmost interest and, for the most part, are supporters of St. Louis.

But a stranger fact is that they pay to look down upon it and if they couldn't look down upon it, in their accustomed manner, the city government of Santa Ana might be represented by a group of disappointed individuals, St. Louis "irreconcilables."

Every year Ed Vegely, city clerk; Frank West, attorney; Frank Purinton, mayor, and several others pay 25 cents apiece each day, during the world series, to see the games on the Register score board, their seats being located in the apartment just opposite the big board. The money goes for rent.

COMMITTEE TO ACT ON WATER BILL IS NAMED

The question as to whether the Metropolitan water bill, drafted in the last legislature, will again be presented for passage, this time to the 1927 legislature, is to be answered by a committee just appointed by H. W. Wadsworth, of Pasadena, president of the Colorado River Aqueduct association.

Supervisor S. H. Finley, of Santa Ana, secretary of the association, has been named a member of the committee. Authority to name the committee was given Wadsworth at a meeting of the association, held at St. Ann's Inn, Santa Ana, two weeks ago. Other members on the committee are W. B. Mathews, of the bureau of public service, Los Angeles; Grant Holcomb, mayor of San Bernardino; James H. Howard, city attorney of Pasadena; Chester Coffin, attorney of Santa Monica; Ray L. Morrow, city attorney of Glendale; W. A. Johnston, water commissioner of San Dimas.

At the meeting in Santa Ana, City Attorney Howard, of Pasadena, said that it appeared possible that the proposed district for bringing California cities for domestic purposes could be organized under an act already in existence. The committee named is to study that act. If it appears suited to the needs of the communities concerned, doubtless it will be used. If not, a new Metropolitan bill, possibly the bill as it appeared when it was voted upon in 1925, in Sacramento, will be presented to the legislature and its passage urged.

The Rev. A. G. H. Bode, present pastor of St. Michael's, said that the honor of beginning the Episcopal work in Anaheim belonged to Miss Susan M. Lafacherie, who came to the town in 1874. Soon after her arrival she collected funds for an organ, hired a hall called "Enterprise hall" and organized a Sunday school. This Sunday school was the gathering place for most of the children of Anaheim every Sunday afternoon, and it grew rapidly. After the organization of the Sunday school, Miss Lafacherie asked the bishop to send a pastor, and he sent the Rev. C. F. Loop, who began the regular services in the spring of 1874.

20 Pastors Serve

Since that time, there have been about 20 pastors of St. Michael's, one of the most beloved being the late Rev. W. S. Dearing, who was rector for 12 years, and whose widow is in the Santa Ana hospital at the present time.

St. Michael's has an unusually interesting and romantic history, according to Dr. Bode. Only two years after the organization of the church, the present building was erected, and it is now the oldest Episcopal church standing, as built, in Southern California. Its interior is beautiful and quaint, and has been commended by prominent architects.

St. Michael's is the mother of all Episcopal work in Orange county, having started a second church at Tustin City, and a third in Dibble's hall, Santa Ana. The parish in Santa Ana became later the Parish of the Messiah.

Pastors Achieve Prominence

Two men, who came from St. Michael's, have risen to prominence in the Episcopal church. They are John A. Emery, who became the pastor of the church after his ordination, and afterwards was for many years archdeacon of California. The other was M. D. Kneeland, who taught in the Anaheim high school, acted as lay reader in the church, and now is pastor at Sierra Madre.

In talking of the church, Dr. Bode spoke of the different branches of work, and said that the church was growing and prospering, the people interested, and helping. The celebration of the 50th anniversary is expected to draw many old members and friends of St. Michael's from all over the county. Taking part in the service Sunday will be the Rev. Canon J. P. H. Browne, who preached in the church over 40 years ago, and the Right Rev. W. B. Stevens, coadjutor bishop of Los Angeles.

After the service, the congregation and clergy will have luncheon on the lawn at the home of Mrs. J. D. Helmsen, 205 South Claudia street, Anaheim. The luncheon will be provided and served by the Helpers' guild of the church.

Bode Talented Organist

For 10 years, Dr. Bode was located in Long Beach, coming to Anaheim only four years ago, when he succeeded the Rev. G. R. Messias. Dr. Bode is an accomplished organist, and received an offer from a church in Canada this year to become organist of that church, but he felt that his place was working with the people and he preferred to remain in Anaheim. Tuesday night, Dr. Bode gave a recital in Placentia for benefit of the Mothers' club of that town.

DEVELOPMENT OF SANTA ANA IS COMMENDED

That Santa Ana's development as a city has been along lines that make it easy to fit its present streets and facilities into a general scheme for future development was declared in an address, yesterday, before the Santa Ana Rotary club, by Hugh Pomeroy, of Los Angeles, secretary of the Los Angeles regional planning commission. Pomeroy is associated with Dr. Carol Aronovici, who is employed by the Santa Ana city council to draw plans for the Santa Ana that is to be.

Pomeroy's connection with the Santa Ana project is largely to give advice in connecting Santa Ana up with the regional planning proposals in Los Angeles county, more especially with through traffic highways.

Pomeroy pointed out that in this county action toward continuing Manchester avenue, which parallels the Southern Pacific, southward from Buena Park is desirable. He commended the county for what has been done toward the project for the Century boulevard, which, it is planned, shall parallel the Pacific Electric.

"Santa Ana has a remarkably compact, cohesive commercial development," said Pomeroy, "and that development can be carried forward easily with special plans for routing heavy traffic, for zoning and for recreational centers."

The Rotary club was addressed briefly yesterday by the Rev. P. J. Hauser, Methodist missionary in Puebla, Mex. He is a member of the Rotary club at that place, he being the only American member. He and his wife are visiting Mrs. Hauser's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. G. J. Corwin, 710 Minter street.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—While natural gas has been known for over a hundred years to exist in the United States, the first incorporated gas company was not organized until 1855. GREAT DAMAGE DONE FLORIDA CITRUS CROPS

Loss to Growers is Estimated at $10,000,000 by Official of Union Pacific

The recent tropical hurricane, which ravaged the southern end of Florida, did approximately $10,000,000 damage to the citrus fruit crop, according to estimates made today by E. J. Hanson, general agent of the perishable service of the Union Pacific system, in a wire received by C. S. Browne, general agent for the company in Santa Ana.

The following comment is taken from the telegram received by Browne:

"As a result the 1926-1927 citrus crop will be slightly less than last year. About 20 per cent of the grapefruit crop and 10 per cent of the oranges were destroyed, or 15 per cent of the total crop."

"The federal government's estimate of the grapefruit crop before the storm was 7,400,000 boxes. A 20 per cent loss would reduce this total to 5,920,000 boxes or 580,000 boxes less grapefruit than was marketed last season."

"A 10 per cent decrease in the government's pre-storm orange estimate of 3,600,000 boxes would leave 3,240,000 boxes, or 440,000 boxes more than sold in commercial quantities last year."

"Many citrus growers declare the government's September estimate was high. The estimate made by the Florida Citrus exchange, in August, was 16,600,000 boxes, while C. W. Lyons, fertilizer manufacturer, predicted late in August, that the total crop would not exceed 15,500,000 boxes. If these smaller pre-storm estimates are accepted, the amount of fruit left is from 500,000 to 1,000,000 boxes short of last year's crop."

"According to the Florida growers, the grapefruit probably will be the smallest the state has had since 1921 and 1922, when an October storm destroyed 1,000,000 boxes of fruit. The reduced orange crop, while estimated to be slightly higher than that of last year, is more than 3,000,000 boxes short of the crop of the two preceding years, or about 7500 cars."

SPEAKERS SELECTED FOR P.-T. A. SESSION

Matters preparatory to the general district meeting, to be held next Saturday in the Orange intermediate school, including selection of speakers for the discussion of legislative measures, were disposed of at today's weekly conference of the fourth (Orange county) district, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, held in offices of the county superintendent of schools, Hall of Records.

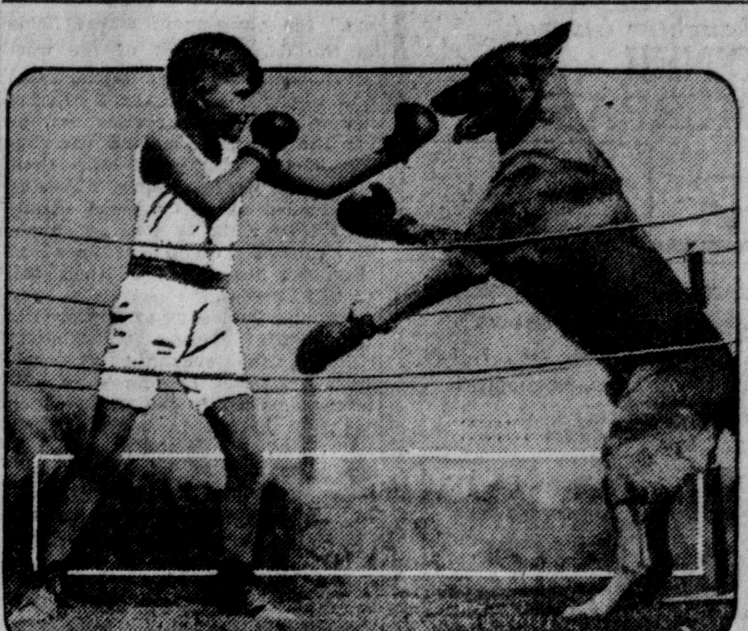

Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, president of the district organization, presided over the conference, which took the form of a round table discussion. Other matters given consideration were music appreciation, humane education and social hygiene.

Mrs. Kelsey emphasized the necessity of a full attendance at the general meeting, scheduled for Saturday, when the various measures on the November ballot will be explained.

WRECK EATING HOUSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—"It's on the fire," used to soothe the impatient diner, didn't get over with James O'Hara and Patrick Harley. The third time the waiter told them their order was "on the fire" one seized a nearby plate of ham and eggs and flung it at the waiter. A few chairs and other things followed, wrecking the restaurant and plate glass window.

GIRL WRITES THAT QUAKE IN CALIFORNIA IS BETTER THAN SEVERE FLORIDA HURRICANES

An earthquake in California is far better than a hurricane in Florida, in the opinion of Grace G. Keeler, of Miami, Fla., who has written her impressions of the recent disaster in the palmetto state to Mrs. Lulu Galbraith, 1003 Grand avenue, Santa Ana.

"I think I would rather have an earthquake, as they do not last so long as this storm did and they could not do much more damage than this storm did, because there was a regular cloudburst with the wind, so what damage was not done by the wind, the rain did. The river backed up on the land and flooded some areas, so that everything on the ground floor was damaged, even if the roof did not leak."

"About 90 per cent of the citrus groves were unrooted by the storm in this vicinity."

The following is taken from an account of the storm, written by Miss Keeler:

Warned Friday Afternoon

"We were warned on Friday afternoon that a hurricane was headed this way, but as we had a warning of the hurricane about a month ago and it did not do much damage here, we thought it would only be a big blow and not amount to much. Along about 2 a. m. September 13, the wind began to blow terribly and we all got up, but I did not feel alarmed and did not dress. That subsided about 6 a. m. I went back to bed about 5 a. m., and slept until 6 a. m., and then got up and dressed and about 7 a. m. several of us went out and took a look around our vicinity to see what damage had been done. Quite a little damage had been done at that time, trees uprooted and screens and awnings torn off, but in our immediate vicinity there had not been so much damage done, although in some places, further away, I found out later, there had been lots of damage done. The air was full of salt and our lips tasted salty."

"We went home and had our breakfast and were thinking about starting down town when it began to rain quite hard and we decided to wait a little while. It was a good thing we did, as it soon began to blow and it was a much worse storm than the first had been. The first came from the northeast and the second from the southeast, so that what had been weakened in the first blow was demolished in the second. We had no damage to our house, with the exception of one window being broken by a piece of roof flying off the house next door. Our roof did not leak, although we were troubled a little by water coming in around the bottom of the windows, which did no permanent damage. The garage in back flew all to pieces."

AUTHORITIES OF ORANGE COUNTY FIND MEXICANS REAL PROBLEM

Close to 16,000 Reside in Section, With About 5000 Living in and About S. A.

MANY OWN HOMES, SEEK EDUCATIONS

Officials Agree Immigrant Is Misunderstood Person Despite His Shortcomings

By ARVID GILMOUNT

Southern California, with its high state of agriculture and industrial development, paying high wages for unskilled labor, compared to the distance paid upon labor south of the Rio Grande, is a natural lure for the Mexican worker. As a result, the Southland is being invaded by an army of job hunters, seeking employment as section hands, ditch diggers, fruit pickers and farm laborers.

For many and various reasons, their presence in Orange county presents a real problem to the county authorities as well as to the various welfare agencies engaged in relief work, inquiries at the court house reveal.

Orange county, with an estimated population of approximately 100,000, has close to 16,000 Mexicans. Of this number, 5000 live in or about Santa Ana, according to figures released by County Commissioner W. S. Gregg.

In justice to the Mexicans living here, it should be pointed out that included in this aggregate are thousands of law-abiding, self-respecting and industrious Mexicans, who, having graduated from the pick and shovel gang, are now engaged in various trades and occupations. Not a few of them own homes and are eager to avail themselves of the educational facilities offered their children.

It should be borne in mind, Commissioner Gregg explained, that as with immigration from Europe, so with that from Mexico, the well-to-do Mexicans do not migrate. And this observation applies with equal force to the educated Mexicans, who come from the middle class. For this reason, he added, it is not fair to judge the Mexican people by the greater number of those who make their living in this county.

But there is the man in the five-gallon, wide-brimmed sombrero made of straw, a guitar in one hand, a cigarette between his lips and all his earthly possessions rolled up in a blanket roll and tucked under the other arm, that furnishes food for thought. Another type that gives the social welfare agencies considerable concern is the frantically individual, showing signs of consumption, who has been rushed across the border by some enterprising labor agent, collecting so much per head for his services. Still another type of undesirable is the aged dependent, the relative of some Mexican laborer who has settled down in this country.

SQUAWS GLEAN WHEAT FIELDS LIKE SLAVES

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., Oct. 6.—Rivaling the picturesque and pathetic farm life of peasantry, depicted by Millet in "The Gleaners," the gleaners of wheat fields in the desert region of the west by Indian squaws have begun. Pite and Shoshone women are ranging harvested farms, minutely searching the straw heaps and winnowing wheat from chaff with their sieves of woven willow. Tossing the loaded sacks on broad shoulders they stalk to waiting burros or mustang-drawn vehicles to transport the fruits of their toil to their homes.

Children and dogs swarm around the laboring women, while stolid braves gaze solemnly at their toiling mates. Seldom does one of the men aid in the work, which in their minds, is beneath their lordly sex. While the squaws toil, the men usually hunt for small game or search lake and river for fish, occasionally working around cattle and horses to earn a few dollars.

The hundreds of scattered Indians, living outside federal reservations, seemingly are ever weighed down by poverty and the gleaming of wheat, permitted by ranchers in the far-flung plateau region after thresher and harvester have finished their work, materially aids in providing food for the long season of snow.

Bending over the littered ground for long hours under a blazing sun, the women laugh and jest, rule their scampering children with curt tongue and ready hand and on leaving smile their thanks to their white brothers. The younger Indian males are not averse to farm labor, but, despite the efforts of missionaries and the counsel of the younger generation, the older men refuse to depart from ancient tradition. The young Indian women, educated in government schools, also refuse to slave in the fields. They can secure easier work with better compensation in town. Having adopted many ways of her white sisters, she no longer submits tamely to the will of the dominant male.

But the older women welcome this season, with its weeks of toil, still content to labor for their men and little ones.

AT THE THEATERS

Buck Jones, Rose Blossom and Jay Hunt in a scene from "The Gentle Cyclone," picture now showing at the West Coast-Walker theater.

Harry Langdon and Gertrude Astor in a scene from "The Strong Man," current attraction at the Yost Broadway theater.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Tonight marks the fourth of a weekly "Gift-Nite" to be held at the West Coast-Walker theater. With a new array of many fine gifts, and especially numbers furnished by Way Watts and his band, this evening's entertainment promises to exceed any yet held in fun and entertainment.

Manager C. E. Walker announced that the "Gift-Nite" innovation will be a permanent institution in Santa Ana, and that his records have positively demonstrated the superiority of this new-style community booster arrangement over the old-style "country store." This is the system that is proving very popular over the entire West Coast chain of theaters.

On the screen is Buck Jones in his newest picture, "The Gentle Cyclone." Buck, of course, is the "cyclone" and despite the suggestion of gentleness in the title of the picture, Jones at times is as vigorous and tornadoic as his fondness for a joyful loop, give you a ticklish somersault, and catch you with a chest-gurgling on the rebound.

If you like to cry—"The Strong Man" will stop your breath with a hoarse catch, will send the tears rolling down your cheeks, and quicken your pulse with pathetic sympathy for the wistful, moon-faced, lonesome boy who strolls across the acres in the appealing personality of Harry Langdon.

Peculiar, this comedy is. If it had been an actor who considers himself an emotional dramatist playing the role of the ex-Belgian soldier searching for his American guardian angel, "The Strong Man" would have been hailed as one of the most poignant and heart-cathing of the year's films.

Manager E. D. Yost announced today that next Friday and Saturday and every Friday and Saturday thereafter the Yost Broadway theater will present a five act vaudeville road show direct from Chicago.

The first showing in California of this road show is at Santa Ana and the patrons of the Yost Broadway

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Harry Langdon's latest laugh riot, "The Strong Man," is a hit the whole family will like. The capacity audience which saw it open yesterday at the Yost Broadway came away declaring the film the best First National has produced in months.

way are particularly fortunate in this regard owing to the fact that vaudeville agents and theater managers from all over the state will come to Santa Ana to see this show each week. Consequently participants in every act will be on their toes to give an especially good performance, it is claimed.

During her recent visit in New York, Colleen Moore, who plays the leading feminine role in "Affinities," took Wesley Barry to the first circus he had ever seen in his life.

Miss Moore was loaned by Marshall Nellan to Ward LaSelle, who directed "Affinities," and accidentally Wesley Barry, another Nellan star, happened to be in the big city.

While Wesley is quite a man when it comes to drawing a salary, he, nevertheless, needs someone to take him by the hand when he "steps out." Wesley's fondness for Miss Moore is just another instance of his good judgment, as local movie fans will agree when they see her in "Affinities," which is showing at the Yost theater.

TURKISH PALACE USED FOR CASINO

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6.—For 20 years, Yildiz palace, the former residence of the famous Turkish Abdul Hamid, has lain empty. But the modernity which distinguishes everything in present-day Turkey has claimed Yildiz palace, which has reopened its portals under the name of "Municipal Casino of Mersazim Kiosk."

The Turks have long sought to obtain concrete advantages from Yildiz and finally an Italian group under Mario Zerra, whose name is well known in the European casino world, obtained a concession to convert the palace.

Yildiz overlooks the Bosphorus and possesses beautiful gardens stretching down to the water's edge. The former reception rooms of the sultan have been renovated and redecorated, but traces of imperialism remain, as witness the golden thrones and negro attendants who have acted as caretakers since Abdul Hamid's death.

The Italians have spent enormous sums in turning Yildiz into a casino and have imported scores of croupiers from Belgium, a pretty ballet from Paris and a first class negro jazz band. The biggest room in the palace, where the sultan once received the German kaiser, is 80 yards long and 30 yards broad, with gorgeous greyish red carpet covering the entire floor. This room is reserved for roulette, baccarat, chemin de fer, and trente quarante.

The real aim of the promoters is to make Constantinople into an Oriental Monte Carlo. No pains will be spared to attract foreign tourists and pleasure seekers.

BUILDING CODE APPROVED FOR ORANGE COUNTY

Action to put the Orange county building code before the various city boards of trustees in Orange county was taken last night by the Orange County Builders' exchange, meeting in the Women's clubhouse, Orange.

Mark Cohn, of San Francisco, expert on building codes, who compiled the code for the Orange County Builders' exchange, was present to answer questions asked by various city officials of the county.

Following approval of the code by many attending the meeting, the exchange delegated to its committee the task of presenting the code to the various city boards.

Langworthy Is Speaker

Paul Langworthy, secretary of the "Los Angeles Builders' exchange, of which the Santa Ana exchange is a unit, sounded the keynote of the meeting, when he advocated the adoption of the Orange county code, which is ready to be put into use, with the possibility of discarding it in favor of the code of the Pacific Coast Building Officials' conference at a later time.

This code now is being prepared, he said, but to wait for it to be presented in its final form would entail the loss of two or three years of progress under a regulatory provision.

That Orange county will be the first county in California, and possibly in the United States, to have a uniform building code and that this distinction is to be desired, were stressed by Langworthy.

"Let your county be written into the history of the United States as the first county to adopt a uniform building code," he said.

DRIVER SERIOUSLY INJURED IN CRASH

T. W. Nicodemus, 303 S. Main street, Long Beach, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain, sustained in an automobile accident, Monday afternoon, near Anaheim Landing, yesterday was removed from the Artesia hospital to the general hospital, Los Angeles.

According to a report of the accident, filed with Los Angeles county officials, the machine driven by Nicodemus collided at an intersection with a machine driven by Clifton Russell, 425 North Walnut street, Artesia. The Russell machine overturned, but Russell escaped injury.

The Nicodemus machine also overturned, it was reported. Russell took Nicodemus to the Artesia hospital. No arrests were made.

Fire Prevention Week Is Observed

FULLERTON, Oct. 6.—All of the Fullerton schools and the city fire department took part in a short program yesterday in which National Fire week was observed.

The fire truck visited all of the schools, where drills were held and Ray B. Leach, secretary of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce, made short talks in which he emphasized the necessity of every one aiding in the work of eliminating fires.

WED SECOND TIME

LONDON, Oct. 6.—After 50 years of married life, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor, of the Home of the Variety Artists' federation, were married recently for the second time on their golden wedding day.

This time they wanted to have a church wedding, as the first ceremony took place in the register's office. The bride was 69 and the bridegroom was 75, 82 and 95 years old.

BOY DRIVES PLANE

GLASGOW, Oct. 6.—House parties in Scotland this month are mostly busy at the shooting boxes, but some hostesses provide other forms of entertainment. At Pint-ray house Lady Sempill offers airplane joy rides, with no less an aviator than her son, the Master of Sempill, who takes the guests up for short flights daily.

MEXICANS ARE REAL PROBLEM TO AUTHORITIES

Mexican immigration should be regulated by the quota restrictions placed on European immigration," declared Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer.

The health official admitted, however, that while there still is room for improvement in the general living conditions of the Mexican workers, there is a marked tendency on the part of many families to cooperate with the health authorities and nurses in bettering conditions.

"In the final analysis it is a problem of economics, of dollars and cents—increased earnings are reflected in better living conditions," the doctor remarked.

He also voiced his appreciation of the interest shown by Mexican mothers in the work of the two baby clinics established in Santa Ana with the co-operation of school authorities.

Improvement Is Noted

A similar stand on restricted immigration on a quota basis, employing the selective principle to eliminate unfit persons, was voiced by County Aid Commissioner Gregg. While there has been a general improvement in the situation, reducing the percentage of Mexican dependents from 72 to 45 of total charity cases, this number could be further reduced if effective steps were taken to stop the inflow of undesirable.

Pointing to some of the defects in law governing the admission of Mexican immigrants, Gregg took issue with the present method of importing contract labor under bond for railroads, irrigation districts and other enterprises requiring a large supply of unskilled labor. While the law requires that these laborers shall be returned to Mexico when their services are no longer required, many of them remain here for an indefinite stay.

Some desert their employers, while others, unable to do the work required, are left to shift for themselves. Among the latter are those who apply for charity aid.

Gregg took occasion to deny the current belief that 90 per cent of all charity and near charity cases handled by the county and semi-official welfare agencies, come from Mexican families. As Mexican laborers have become familiar with American working conditions and taken their places among wage earners, the demand for charity assistance has decreased. Today, he added, the itinerant tourist, carrying his family and worldly goods in a broken-down car, is as much of a burden to his office as the Mexican destitute.

Because of the nomadic instincts of the Mexican itinerant worker, moving from one place to another in search of employment, he and his children are a problem to the school authorities.

Liberal Law Interpretation

In many instances it has been found necessary to place a liberal interpretation on the provisions of the school law in order to avoid a manifest hardship on some families, inquiries disclosed.

But there is something else in this question besides school attendance, commented City Superintendent J. A. Cranston. Not only are many white parents opposed to having their children mix with Mexican pupils, but many homeowners are opposed to the location of Mexican schools in their neighborhood. And in this attitude they are supported by real estate agents, he declared.

Dr. Presson, Commissioner Gregg and Superintendent Cranston were unanimous in their opinion that the Mexican immigrant is a much misunderstood individual. While he has his faults and shortcomings, he has many good qualities. Except in the case of misfits and undesirable, he is a loyal and faithful worker. He seldom foment troubles or engages in radical propaganda. Many of them, realizing the opportunities offered in this country, are eager to learn and eager to improve their lot in life.

Fort Wayne Lady, Who Got Very Weak and Run-Down, Says Cardui Helped Her.

Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Mrs. G. M. Hughes, 1421 N. Calhoun Street, says: "I was run-down, simply all worn out, no life and energy, too tired to enjoy life, weak as could be. I didn't know what I was going to do for I grew tired dragging around. I would go to bed tired, get up tired."

"I thought a good tonic would be what I needed. My mother recommended Cardui and I can now readily see why. It did me worlds of good, built me up and put new life into me. I took three bottles and from the first one I was improved . . . felt fine. I have taken it since, one or two occasions, for weakness. I can highly recommend it."

For nearly 50 years, Cardui has been in use by thousands of women who have written to tell of the great benefit they have received from it. Medical writers have known of and recommended, for over 600 years, the botanical plant which is one of the principal ingredients of Cardui, as having been found of benefit in many female complaints.

Cardui, the woman's tonic, tested by time, is today manufactured in modern laboratories in up-to-date pharmaceutical methods and is for sale by all reliable druggists.

but there was no damage to the cars in it.

Couldn't Stand Up

"About 4 p. m., several of us put on our bathing suits and started out for the bay front. The wind still was blowing quite hard, but the force of the hurricane was spent. However, when we got down on the water front I could not stand up without holding on to some of the others.

There is not a palm left in Royal Palm park that is not entirely twisted off where the leaves grow out. They were not unrooted. There were boats all over the park, some very big boats, high and dry. A 15-foot wave carried them in.

"I went up to Fort Lauderdale to see my cousin and found that their house stood in three feet of water from the river and was lifted from its foundation, but was not otherwise damaged.

Hollywood and Danla were the worst hit, I think, while the damage was bad enough in every place. All north of here seemed to be harder hit than here in Miami, houses completely flattened, one side crumpled in and the other side fallen over toward that side. One house I saw was completely turned over and another clear on its side. The sides fell out of a church in Fort Lauderdale and the roof is right on the ground. Most of the churches seemed to stand the storm pretty well, however, and the First Methodist church here, the White Temple, is in very good condition. It is being used as a relief station. There are three big buildings that have been condemned and they must be torn down."

INFORMAL OPENING

Next Friday, October 8th

Afternoon 2:30 to 5:00 o'clock

Evening 7:30 to 9:00 o'clock

Music Both Afternoon and Evening furnished by Cianfoni's Orchestra

On this day nothing will be sold, but you will be privileged to examine the store and the merchandise.

We especially call your attention to the Candy Department, where not only the quality of candy sold must be the best at the price, but where sanitary methods of display and handling are supreme.

The candy display fixtures, termed units, being built of mahogany with imported opaline glass bottoms, French plate mirrors and nickel silver trimmings with plate glass covers are so arranged as to make the case absolutely fly, dust and germ-proof, as well as keeping it fresh.

The method of handling the reserve stock is embodied in a sanitary container placed in the rear of the candy unit and so adjusted that original boxes of candy received direct from the factory are placed underneath the cover so that candy sales are made under the most sanitary conditions.

ENTIRE $18,000.00 DAVIS & UNITED DRESS SHO STORE IN HANDS OF F. M. ALMSTEAD & CO., Adjusters Situation Demands DRASTIC ACTION!

STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC!

The remodeling of this building has cost me untold thousands of dollars. Of course the final result of the undertaking will be a better building and also an asset to our beautiful city. I am pleased with these facts. However, that does not help me immediately, when the creditors are demanding cash. The work on the building necessitates a blockade of the display windows, sidewalks and also to a certain extent the entrance to this store. In the meantime very little merchandise has been sold. Also a slow summer season has helped to precipitate matters.

In the meantime new stocks kept on coming according to schedule of orders placed six months or so previous. My stocks kept piling up until the situation did not look healthy to me from a business standpoint. Stocks are not selling and the creditors are demanding cash. So after due deliberation of all factors concerned, I called on the F. N. Almstead & Co., adjusters of Los Angeles. They sized up the situation. The result is that immediate disposal of the stock is necessary. There is only one object in view now and that is to turn this stock into cold cash regardless of cost or loss. The store will be closed Wednesday to permit the preparation of the stocks for the greatest and most terrific merchandise slaughter this vicinity has ever witnessed. Remember folks all new Fall shipments of merchandise are included. Nothing reserved. No special sale stocks but our own regular high grade Men's, Boys' and Women's Wear at terrific markdowns.

WOMEN and MISSES

STOCKS TO BE SACRIFICED! WHO WILL PLACE ENTIRE STOCK AT MERCY OF PUBLIC Necessity Knows No Law!

ENTIRE STOCK MUST BE SOLD!

Thursday, October 7th, at 9 a. m., the public will be welcomed to the greatest price slashing sale of clean, staple, high grade merchandise for men, boys and women that this vicinity has ever witnessed. Remember that day! Set your alarm clocks early so you will be here promptly at the opening hour.

Mr. Davis bought a wonderful line of Fall merchandise for the season for men, boys and women. Some of the stock has already arrived and more is on the way. But the alterations to the building retarded his business. Practically stood still. So now the inevitable, he must unload to pay past due accounts and also keep stocks down to a justifiable level.

In all our 16 years of experience as business adjusters, never have we found as clean and up-to-date stock as that which is carried by Davis at 221 West Fourth Street, near Broadway, Santa Ana. We have entirely disregarded the cost of the new, desirable Fall merchandise. Our main object is to sell this stock in the quickest possible time. We assure you that this stock is of the very best in the latest new Fall offerings. Nothing reserved. Come—tell your friends to come. We have given you, the public, the profits which Mr. Davis is entitled to under ordinary condition. Will you share in them? It's yours. Come, if only to look. Every item will be plainly marked. You will not be urged to buy.

We promise you the most drastic merchandise slaughter of women's, men's and boy's wear that you have ever witnessed. Wait for it. The opening day is October 7th, Thursday at 9 a. m.

CARDINAL PITCHERS TURNING SERIES TIDE

BILLY EVANS Says REPARTEE OF FANS

All the repartee in baseball is not confined to the active participants in the game. Many a fast one is hurled from the grandstand.

Prior to the final series of the season with the New York club, Manager George Sisler had rested the veteran Tom Zachary for a week, so he would be in the best possible shape to tame the Yankees.

All season Zachary had been very successful against New York and Sisler figured the week's rest would give him an added advantage.

Zachary early showed that he had far more stuff than usual but lack of work had played havoc with his control.

In the first three innings he walked seven of the Yankees, escaping damage until the third because of some fine work in the field.

After Zachary had filled the bases in the third and Manager Sisler walked over to the box, apparently having decided to take him out, some wag in the stand must have convinced him that was the thing to do, when he shouted:

"Say, Sisler, I thought the 'Big Parade' was a motion picture."

YANK SLUGGERS GIVEN NOTHING 'FAT' TO HIT

Babe Ruth, Meusel Unable To Connect Safely With Slow Balls Thrown Them

By HENRY L. FARRELL

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Leading by two games to one, after three heavy battles of the world's series, the St. Louis Cardinals, champions of the National league, were in a spot today that old baseball men classed as "the edge."

After beating the New York Yankees in two straight games, the Cards turned into a 2 to 1 favorite to win the series and even money was being offered that the series would be ended here in the next two games and that the players and the travelers would not have to return to New York for the week end. As was predicted before the series opened, the Cards seem to be in possession of better pitchers than the Yankees.

Yesterday's victory was a 4 to 0 shutout in which Jess Haines proved too much for the famed Yank sluggers.

Miller Huggins has used up Pennington, Shocker, Reuther, Shawkey and Thomas and he has only Waite Hoyt as a starting pitcher for the next game.

Hornsby Well Fixed

Rogers Hornsby, on the other hand, has Flint Rhem, Art Reinhart, Vic Keen and Sherdel ready to go to work and they are all good pitchers.

The Cardinals also are hitting when hits are needed and the heavy artillery of the Yankees has been a complete bust. Ruth hasn't been able to hit the slow balls that are being tossed at him every time he comes to the plate. Bob Meusel, another of the Yank shock troops, has been able to get but one hit in the series. That was off the veteran Alexander. Only "Buster" Gehrig, the former Columbia University star, has been living up to promise.

St. Louis now has all the advantage with a team full of pepper, plenty of pitchers waiting to work and a town full of the wildest baseball fans that the major league circuit knows of.

Card Fans Boisterous

The two games in New York set up a record for attendance and receipts. In the first games in St. Louis a mark certainly was made for noise and real baseball enthusiasm.

Haines, according to veteran baseball men who are in the press box, pitched with what is called in baseball "nerve."

Five times he put the first Yank batter on base and not once did a Yank runner get his foot on third base.

Haines, tipped off by Bill Killefer and some good National league scouts that the Yankees could not do anything with a slow ball, teased them all afternoon and had them swinging wildly ahead of the ball.

The ball games thus far have been just ball games with only a few thrills. The Cards are hitting when hits are needed and the Yankees have not been able to get in one good punch when a good punch is essential.

HARRIS PREPS COLLEGE SQUAD FOR NEXT TILT

While the first team of the Santa Ana junior college was running wildly through Tustin high school in a scrimmage at Poly field yesterday, Coach Graham Harris' second squad of the college was taking a 18 to 0 drubbing from Huntington Beach high school at Huntington Beach.

The first team scored several touchdowns in a short time during its scrimmage with Tustin. Coach Harris, playing with his junior college gridmen, ran through for a touchdown from a kick-off for one of the tallies.

Lon McIntire and Clarence Trickey, Santa Ana ends, both made scores of passes.

The scrimmages were held to prepare the squad for its practice game against Southwestern university of Los Angeles Saturday at Poly field. Coach Harris is concentrating on interference running. In all the games this season, lack of interference has been fatal to the collegians with the result that not a game has been won.

Last night, even after the scrimmage with Tustin, Harris put his men through a hard drill, working on interference and the team showed the smoothest operation that it has exhibited this season.

Before meeting Southwestern university, the Santa Anans probably will scrimmage with Anaheim high school, Harris said. Tomorrow's match with Compton high school has been called off.

WHERE CARDINALS AND YANKEES ARE FIGHTING OUT SERIES

Here's an aerial view of Sportsman's park, St. Louis, where the Cardinals and the New York Yankees are now playing in the world series. The park was enlarged several months ago and is an up-to-date baseball plant in every respect.

REFERRED TO WEBSTER

Later in the same game Babe Ruth, in trying for a difficult catch of a foul fly, was unfortunate enough to step on the ball as it rebounded from the stand.

Such an accident last season put Eddie Collins out of it for several months and probably shortened his career by several years.

The accident sent Ruth sprawling to the ground. As a matter of fact Annette Kellerman never made a more beautiful headfirst slide.

A sprained ankle that forced him out of the game the next day resulted. Not knowing that he had stepped on the ball and believing he had merely suffered the usual fall that often happens to a fielder in pursuit of a fly ball, none of the Yankees went to his assistance.

Only the members of the St. Louis Browns, seated in the bullpen in left field, commiserated with the Babe.

The fact that none of his teammates rushed to his assistance was apparently noticed by a wise fan, who shouted to Ruth as he limped to the bench:

"Say, Ruth! If you are looking for sympathy you will find it in the dictionary under S."

WHY SAM'S POPULAR

Outfielder Sam Rice of the Washington club is one of the most popular players on the team. The right field fans are strong for Samuel, and there, hangs an interesting tale.

Recently while working in Washington, I noticed that Sam would occasionally throw a ball into the pavilion for the occupants to fight over. There's a reason.

Some years ago, when Rice was breaking in at Washington he made a sensational catch that won for him a round of applause. Returning to his position in right field at the close of the inning, one of the bleacherites yelled:

"Sammy, you is a great right fielder, but the greatest man that ever played the position in Washington was Willie Keeler." Then he hesitated for a moment and continued:

"And you know what made him great with us boys?" Rice was all attention. He wanted to get into the Keeler class and thought some worth-while advice was on the way.

"No? Well, I'll tell you, Sammy. Every now and then that fellow Keeler would throw an old ball up to us boys."

Ever since Sam has been doing that little thing. With Washington fans in the right field stands he is more popular than Keeler ever was.

SHORT SHOTS

NEW YORK.—C. C. Pyle's troupe of tennis stars were to have their first workout here today preparatory to Saturday's Madison Square Garden clashes. Plans for the tour of the professional stars, headed by Suzanne Lenglen and Vincent Richards, have been completed.

BERKELEY.—California felt its serious blow from injuries today with a stiff game with St. Mary's only a few days off. Paul Perrin star Bear halfback sustained a badly broken ankle in practice last night and will be out of the lineup for some time.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Archie Yelle, veteran catcher of the Seals, yesterday was purchased by Portland, Ore., after a conscientious player, does not fit into the Seals' plan for reconstruction next season.

JIMMY AUSTIN, BACK IN S. A., PICKS YANKEES

Jimmy Austin was "back home" today.

The genial coach, assistant manager and "pepper box" of the St. Louis Browns arrived in Santa Ana late yesterday from his seventeenth campaign in the big leagues. With Mrs. Austin, he motored through from St. Louis.

Although the St. Louis Cardinals hold considerable advantage in the present status of the world's series, Austin still believes the New York Yankees have a good chance to win baseball's richest plum.

"The Cardinals have a great young ball club, hustle for every game and don't seem to be suffering from nerves," Austin said. "The Yankees, however, have been through the mill and experience counts more than anything else in a short series like this one. They may be on the short end now but they are not beaten yet."

"St. Louis is baseball mad and nearly everyone there is confident the Cardinals will win."

Mr. and Mrs. Austin encountered no difficulty in their long automobile junket from St. Louis until they reached California. In the final stretch of the jaunt, however, they had to be towed three times.

The St. Louis Browns veteran and his wife have gone to Laguna Beach where they winter each year.

Bell, Daley Report To Portland

Randolph Bell and Ed Daley, former Santa Ana high school baseball players, made their plunge in Class AA company, reporting to the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league which opened a week's series in Los Angeles.

Ernie Johnson, Portland manager and winter resident of Santa Ana and Laguna Beach, did not accompany his team south. He was hit by a pitched ball in a game last week and while he is not seriously injured he will be out of the game for the rest of the season.

Bell and Daley probably will be given tryouts during the last two weeks of the season and if they show promise will be taken to spring training camp next season.

ELIGIBILITY STATUS OF TWO HOLLYWOOD ATHLETES NOW AT SAN DIEGO QUESTIONED HERE

Santa Ana high school athletic authorities were prepared today to don their "fighting clothes" and go to bat for Harvey Durkee, start football player who was recently declared ineligible, should Coast Preparatory league and C. I. F. officials allow Jimmy Meeks and Larry Green, former Hollywood athletic aces, to compete for San Diego at which school they have enrolled.

Meeks and Green transferred to San Diego, it was understood here, after they had admitted membership in a high school fraternity and, accordingly, declared ineligible for football in the Los Angeles City league. Green had been elected captain of the Hollywood eleven before it was discovered he was a member of a secret order. Meeks equalled the world interscholastic record of 15.2-10 seconds in the 120 yard high hurdles last spring. He also was an accomplished football player.

If Green and Meeks are eligible to compete at San Diego, Durkee certainly is eligible to play here, local officials maintain. Durkee was ruled out on a technicality, because he played part of a practice game last fall when, according to C. I. F. rules, he had not completed the necessary semester in school here after transferring from Huntington Beach high school. The few minutes in the 1925 game was declared a full season by Coast Preparatory league representatives although Durkee left school shortly after the game, reentered in February and completed the necessary semester here, figuring on being eligible for a full season of football this fall.

The transfer rule, as well as the fraternity punishment, would affect the status of Meeks and Green at San Diego, it was declared.

High school officials will take no action, it was intimated, until Meeks and Green play in a game for San Diego.

St. Louis Fans Celebrate Win Far Into Night

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Their joy and pride in the Cardinals increased a thousand fold by yesterday's victory. St. Louis baseball fans could not be contained in the limits of this staid and circum-spect city today.

There was a celebration which started far into the night but it could not commence to compare with the frenzied joy which marked the occasion of the Cardinals' homecoming Monday. Last night's mad enthusiasm was shared, too, with the ceremonies attendant on the "velled prophet" parade on an annual St. Louis Festival night.

WILLS TO DOG TUNNEY TRAIL SAYS MANAGER

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Paddy Mullins comes out with the statement that he will dog Champion Gene Tunney's footsteps the same as he did Jack Dempsey's. But Mullins is going to pursue a different course this time. Waiting for a fight with Dempsey which never materialized Mullins got a bit the best of it in publicity and sympathy and cashed in splendidly. He matched the big negro with the softest men the promoters could dig up for him and the ease with which Wills disposed of the half-hearted opposition made the fans believe Dempsey would be just as easy for him.

Tunney tried to make a match with the Negro and prove his right to a match with the then titleholder. Wills laughed off the suggestion and Gene proceeded to hook up with Rickard and landed the match and championship. Tunney has never fought a Negro. He was willing to let the bars down and fight Wills only to prove he had more right as the logical contender than for anything else. Wills refused to fight him and it looks as if Harry is out of luck for fair, and Tunney is well within his rights.

Wills as decided to come out of dignified retirement and fight Jack Sharkey. What a blow to Mullins' hopes if the Boston ex-sailor beats the colored heavy-weight champion. This is a bad year for champions and maybe Harry is the next in line to hit the down grade.

LA BARBA HELD EVEN BY NEWSBOY BROWN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—Newsboy Brown proved again that he is the most logical contender for Fidel La Barba's flyweight crown when he held the champion to a draw in a furious 10-round bout at Vernon last night. La Barba's title was not at stake.

Brown gained a draw by finishing strong, taking the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds after La Barba had piled up a point lead in the early innings.

The newsboy was able to do little with the champion until the seventh while La Barba's deadly right counted time and again during the early rounds.

In the fifth and again in the sixth the newsboy seemed on the verge of going down when the champion connected with telling rights.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Stephen Decatur

Sketches by Redner
Synopsis by Braucher

After the victory over the Macedonian, Decatur was given command of the President, and guarded New York harbor. His frigate met and subdued the British Majestic, but was so badly battered in the fighting that it was unable to escape the British squadron which pressed around on all sides. Decatur surrendered.

The treaty with Britain was being signed even while the battle between the Majestic and the President was in progress.

Five days after the treaty with Britain, Decatur was sent to war upon the Barbary states, which had begun trouble again.

Decatur ended forever the piracy upon American ships in the Mediterranean. The commodore's brilliant campaign made short work of the pirates. Treaties were signed with all the Barbary powers and Decatur returned to Washington, where he built a home. But tragedy lurked in the future for the great naval chief. (Continued)

BEAUTY CHATS

THE HOME SHAMPOO

Do you wash your hair at home? For if you simply duck your head into a basin of hot water and rub it around with a cake of soap and then rinse it off until you get bored with the job and decide it's clean (which is what happens at most home shampoos) you are doing your hair a great injustice.

Remember that when you wash your head, you are trying to cleanse the scalp, and about 180,000 hairs—that being the number to an average head of hair—scientists tell us. And each hair is necessarily oily, indeed, its core is all oil, and the pores of the scalp have exuded oil. And all this, hair and skin, must be freed of dirt, freed of a good deal of oil, and yet left not too dry.

The secret is in using quantities of soap, or else rubbing an egg on the scalp and letting it dry on. The first soaping loosens some of the grease (hair has an affinity for oily things) the second soaping will take off most of the dirt and the first soaping which will really cleanse hair and scalp. But the soap must be good, and it must be rinsed off before more soap is used. After that, rinsing will be easy and the hair will dry smooth and glossy. But no amount of hot water rinsing will make it so if your soap merely sticks to the hair. You can't rinse off one soaping, your brush will show a gray deposit for days, and your hair will be sticky and dull.

tract oil. It is this combination that leads to the growth of superfluous hair with some people, so it is best not to take any chances with this oil by using it on the face or throat. Try cucumber juice on the dark line around the neck. Sometimes a sluggish liver causes this trouble.

Queer Quirks of NATURE.

BOUNDLESS ARCTIC HIS HOME

By ARTHUR N. PACK
President American Nature Association

No bird has better right to be called a bird of the arctic than the snowy owl. His range is circumpolar and in summer includes only those lands north of the limit of tree growth.

Here on the boundless rolling plains dotted with blue lakes and soon to be clothed with bright-hued flowers, he and his mate make their home on some hillock raised from the damp ground. In a mound composed of grass and weed stems the six or eight round white eggs are laid.

The weather is still cold and the eggs must not be left uncovered, so the mother bird begins to set when she lays the first egg, and the young are hatched at intervals. Arctic hares, ptarmigan and lemmings—these are the food of the young owls, and in due time, if all goes well, they are able to fly and each learns to catch its own food.

Go On Long Journey

It is now August. The flowers have gone to seed and already many of the summer birds are starting in their long journey to their winter homes. But the snowy owl loves too well his home and stays as long as he can. Snow storms come, small ones at first just whitening the barren hills, and soon melting.

Then comes one which does not melt. The ptarmigan no longer can find food and they go southward where the willows grow thickly and furnish a bountiful supply of buds.

Arctic Owl

Food Is Scarce

The lemmings are under the snow and the great white hares are scarce. So southward the owls go, too, into the great stretches of spruce and poplar woods. Here is a smaller hare, white like the other. He is the prey of those other large owls, the great gray and the great horned. But the hares are in myriads and there are enough for all.

So our arctic owl picks out some thinly-wooded section, close to some wide stretch of river and gravel bar now alike covered with snow, and thus reminding him of his beloved arctic waste, and here he is happy, passing the time until the sun of spring has once more bared his ancestral nesting ground.

told his interested listeners all about it. "I tell you, it was worth it," he declared.

The tramp did not know it, but he was being rather sporting. He was willing to take a chance. Not that I am recommending to the public at large to try housebreaking and the quest of pink beds. But isn't it true that we can become over-cautious—those inhibitions in us grow and grow until we are trained "out of faith, out of passion, and out of ambition?"

The "sober second thought" is always essential and seldom wrong," but it is also true that "nothing risked, nothing won."

The person who gets the least out of life is the person who walks dourly and safely half way between joy and sorrow. The essayist tells us to "avoid exceeding joy and complaining grief." Good! But the man who can do as successfully will have no character lines to be touched out of his photograph.

Travelers in Russia must carry their own bed linen and blankets, as the hotels do not supply these.

Failure To Take a Chance Means That We Are Missing Part of Life

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Have you read the story of the tramp, bearded and unwashed, who sneaked into a warm lighted house and found himself in a pink bedroom containing a pink satin bed?

He was wet and cold and tired, and the rosy lights threw a glamor of softness over that bed that could not be resisted. He settled himself nicely in the middle of it. As was, and after when a maid ushered an expected guest into the roseate bower, behold they were greeted by thunderous snores.

He got thirty days in the workhouse and was put to work making brooms. But he wagged his head and chuckled merrily as he

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 6.—Coincident with the dedication of the coast highway here will be the formal dedication and opening Sunday of the Laguna Beach Episcopal church, St. Francis-by-the-Sea, according to an announcement made this morning by the Rev. Percy Wise Clarkson, rector for the local parish. Services starting at 8:30 a. m. and continuing throughout the day will serve as dedication of the church and commemoration of the 700th anniversary of the death of St. Francis of Assisi, patron saint of the chapel.

The Rev. Father Moore, of Fullerton; Father Kahn, of Covina, and Canon Renison, of Los Angeles, will officiate at the various ceremonies.

A beautiful flag, which will be presented to the city as the official flag, will be unfurled by Foster Elliott, president of the chamber of commerce, at the 8:30 o'clock opening exercises. The pledge to the flag will be led by Miss Madeline Clarkson, daughter of the Rev. Mr. Clarkson. "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" will be sung. Members of patriotic orders, fraternal societies and various civic groups are asked to be present.

At 9 a. m., the four art glass windows in the church will be unveiled. The set is valued at $2000, according to statements of church officials. At this time, the altar, seats, pictures, draperies and other church furnishings will be dedicated. The 11 o'clock services will consist of the unveiling of the set of St. Francis and three art glass windows in the chapel. One of these was created by Holman Hump, famous worker in art glass.

At 4 p. m., Canon Renison will officiate at vespers and flag exercises. Bishop Stevens will preside at the 7:30 o'clock processional and benediction. During this service, the tower will be dedicated and the gardens and fountains blessed.

The church, which was organized five years ago by the Rev. Mr. Clarkson, is said to be one of the finest of its kind in California. It started with five parishioners and a $10 bill, he states. At present, there are approximately 100 parishioners.

Special mission services are being held every night this week at 7:30 o'clock.

Services will be held regularly on the first Sunday in each month at 9 a. m., until Easter, when the Sunday services will be held every Sunday evening. During this service, the tower will be dedicated and the gardens and fountains blessed.

FLOW OF WELL IN NEW BEACH FIELD JUMPS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 6.—Considerable comment was caused among oil men in the Huntington Beach field yesterday, with the announcement that the H. No. 1 well of the Standard Oil company, that company's only producer in the west end of the city, has increased its output to 221 barrels a day. This well a few days ago was making only about 75 barrels a day, and its neighbor, the H. No. 2, which was brought in at about the same time, was an even poorer well, which used the Standard to kill it and deepen to the second zone.

The increase in the H. No. 1 makes this the most productive of the shallow-zone wells in the west end of Huntington Beach.

The Standard Oil company's Anderson No. 1 well in the west end of Huntington Beach yesterday was making 1121 barrels a day, with the cut reduced to 2.3 per cent, according to officials of the company. This well is the Standard's first completion in the deep zone at Huntington Beach.

The Miley Petroleum Exploration company yesterday spudded in its Pacific Electric No. 6 well in the west end. Starting of this well gives the Miley company a total of six projects in the new field, two of them on production with a total output of more than 2000 barrels a day, and two more expected to go on production within the next week or ten days.

PAGEANT WILL BE FEATURE OF HIGHWAY EVENT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 6.—An allegorical pageant in three parts, depicting the progress shown by coast towns, will be given at Laguna Beach Saturday as part of the highway celebration.

The first scene of the pageant will be enacted in all of the beach towns from Long Beach to Laguna Beach and will feature the signing of a petition in which each town asks to have Laguna Beach join to the chain of prosperous beach communities. At each town Miss Marjorie Gowan, "Miss Laguna Beach," will present the petition for the signature of the mayor and at Laguna Beach, "Miss Laguna Beach," will present the petition to Mary Pickford, who will act as "Miss Prosperity."

Miss Pickford will present the petition to Nelson T. Edwards, state highway commissioner, for approval and to Thomas B. Talbert, chairman of the Orange county board of supervisors, for inspection and comment. She will then command Douglas Fairbanks, acting as "Vulcan," the blacksmith, to weld the chain connecting Laguna Beach with other coast towns. Five little girls, representing Long Beach, Seal Beach, Sunset Beach, Huntington Beach and Newport Beach will then approach the anvil from the west, "Miss Laguna Beach" will approach from the east and the links of a chain held by the girls will be joined by the famous motion picture star. Mary Pickford will then declare the road to be officially opened. An address by a prominent Laguna Beach man will be given following the ceremony and a luncheon will be served to more than 100 persons at the White House cafe.

George Jeffrey, supervisors from the fifth district, will head the parade, which will start at Long Beach early Saturday morning and which will travel along the Coast boulevard to Laguna Beach.

SITE SELECTED FOR HIGHWAY VISITORS

BALBOA, Oct. 6.—In the Coast highway opening celebration next Saturday, Balboa will play a part aside from the participation of the queen, Little Miss Marjorie Greeley. It was revealed today by H. B. King, general chairman of a committee arranging Balboa's participation. A 10-acre tract on the highway or the Balboa Island road, has been set aside as a resting place for visitors. Beach paraphernalia will be set up and free lemonade will be dispensed by a corps of American Legion auxiliary members. Adequate parking space for automobiles will be provided. Free boat rides on the bay will be donated by J. A. Beck, the Beckwith company and J. P. Greeley.

These services will be continued throughout the day. Persons desiring can view the program at Laguna Beach, return to Balboa for free lemonade and visit various harbor points.

The Balboa committee which has formulated the plans and is carrying them out, consists of H. B. King, J. A. Beck, J. P. Greeley, K. I. Fulton, Sam Meyer, Harry Welch, Dr. F. C. Ferry and Stewart Lucas.

TALBERT

TALBERT, Oct. 6.—A hold that was frustrated Saturday afternoon at Dr. Castle's ranch, when a man cut the pasture fence and securing one of the two fine race horses belonging to Elmer Cox, started away with the animal. Mr. Cox, who resides on the Castle place, was puzzled by the hold, but he at once gave chase and overtook the man who escaped. The horse is valued at $500 and is one of the two awarded first place at the recent Orange County fair.

Ed. Helm, local ranchman, is a patient at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where he underwent a serious major operation Monday.

The second large concrete tank on the 120 acres of land owned by Laguna Beach is nearing completion. Water will be pumped into these tanks for settling purposes and from them will be pumped into the mains.

Threshing was delayed by the rainfall Saturday. No damage from the rain is reported, however, and the farmers are able to get into the fields again Monday morning.

The Rev. Mallory Flannigan, pastor of the Talbert Methodist church, south, was accompanied Sunday morning by his wife and her sister, Mrs. Reeves, of San Francisco, who is their houseguest. They were dinner guests that day at the S. E. Talbert home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Coker entertained Sunday guests in their home, a nephew, Sidney Coker, and wife, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Coker's sister, Mrs. O. Kanawyer, and two nephews, Leo and J. D. Kanawyer, of Wintersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pettitt, of Whittier, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Sam Talbert, were entertained Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Talbert.

The family of Alex Herman, under quarantine for diphtheria, has been released. Only one member of the family was ill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bushard and family, Mrs. Charles Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Will Jones and family and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Burge and family, of Huntington Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lamb and family, of Santa Ana, went to the hill climb at San Juan Capistrano Sunday.

Yes, Engineering Office Does Not Sell Dog Biscuits

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 6.—Many are the queries that are received by telephone operators. The police department also gets its share of prize questions.

But the local engineering department has the latest of the prize information seekers.

Yesterday someone called the engineering department and asked: "Do you have dog biscuits?"

C. P. Pilch, employee in the department, equalled the courtesy of both telephone girls and policemen, when he replied, "No, but I will try and get you some."

The person hung up and Pilch is still wondering who called the engineering department for dog biscuits.

EVENING SALUTATION

I would a-hunting go
For the Weaver of Dreams
Whose warp and wool is the afterglow
Of departed sunsets
And the varied gleams
Of emerald twilights, drowsy shades,
And gay flowers blooming in the glades
Of the Garden of Long Ago.

TEMPORARY STRUCTURES

At least once in two years, and often oftener, Santa Ana's board of city trustees resolves to quit giving temporary permits for flimsy structures in the downtown section, or, at least, to confine the temporary permits to cases of dire need.

There seems to be in many cities a rotary motion in relation to temporary permits. There's a cycle. First, it is decided to be careful about giving them, to give them only in cases where some emergency condition exists. Then, drifting, a building inspector or street superintendent or city engineer is left to decide when the emergency exists, and after awhile it gradually becomes easy to get temporary permits.

Then the sheds begin to multiply. Suddenly, complaints come drifting in. Here's a shed that had a permit for a year, and it's been up for two or more years. Here's another shed that the owner has come to look upon as a permanent structure, as a part of his rentable property. Over yonder is a fire menace, resting quietly under a temporary permit. A few years ago, in a city near Santa Ana, it was found that an evangelistic group had an idea that its temporary permit to put up a tent was permission to keep the tent up as a permanent meeting place for the church.

Then, when complaints multiply, comes a change. Temporary permits are checked up, and temporary structures are gotten rid of, sometimes with bitter resentment on the part of those who had come to look on the structures as permanent. The city council again determines to grant temporary permits only in cases of real emergencies, and the cycle is completed, ready for another rotation.

Santa Ana's city council, we are sure, watches the issuance of temporary permits closely, and with far greater vigilance than is found in most cities. Our fire department checks up on fire menaces, and we have about as few temporary permit structures in the downtown section as a city our size is likely to have.

Nevertheless, it is important to bear in mind that eternal vigilance is the price of safety. It is important that the city council should feel keenly and continuously its responsibility in the matter. It is important that property owners and citizens generally should realize their responsibility in this respect, and give to the city council their fairminded and hearty co-operation.

FOR ABSENT VOTERS

Owing to the restrictions placed upon voting by the voter who is away from home on election day, California's law, passed several years ago, establishing absent voter regulations, has been little used in California.

County clerks of many counties, including the county clerk of this county, have gone through elections with so little call for absent voting that the law has been regarded by the county clerks as a useless piece of legal machinery. The clerks have suggested some changes, whereby the law will be made usable.

That's why No. 13 will appear on the November ballot. If that measure passes, the privilege of absent voting will be extended to voters who are absent from home on account of injuries, necessary travel or government service.

We ought to make the absent voting law worth while, or abolish it. We believe it should be made worth while, and are therefore convinced that No. 13 on the ballot should be passed.

WESTON HAS SUCCEEDED

Edward Payson Weston, the famous walker, recently defeated in his hike against Poverty, has quietly settled into a job as handy man at a Kingston (N. Y.) hotel.

"Poor old man!" many may say, but it is sympathy wasted. If Edward Payson Weston is good enough, at 85, to fill the job of handy man, which often calls for some rather arduous labor, he needs no sympathy.

He needs no sympathy because he has proved what he set out to establish, that walking is the universal health-building exercise. He can work at 85. His doctrine is sound. He has succeeded.

Perhaps a few of us who now ride in motor cars or street cars every time we have to go two blocks will not succeed so well.

THE SMITHS HAVE IT

Just as we had expected, the Smiths won again. Listed on the pages of the new "Who's Who in America," just off the press, are 303 persons bearing the family name of the man who wooed and lost Pocahontas.

In second place we have the Browns. There are 195 of them. The real fight developed for third place, with two families coming down the stretch neck and neck, the Johnsons and the Joneses.

In a thrilling spurt right at the wire the Johnsons won, with 146, and the poor Joneses, with 140, had to take fourth.

ADVICE FROM SCHWAB

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel company, is an optimist. Looking for brighter things has become almost a religion with him. But, to brilliant hopes and aims, he adds some very forceful action lest his dreams perish.

"Ours is the most prosperous country in the world," he said recently, in addressing a meeting of manufacturers. "I believe we are moving toward heights of prosperity as yet undreamed of. This is still a land in which the dreamer may give full play to his dreams."

"But the prosperity of industry is absolutely impossible, in my judgment, without the prosperity of agriculture. There must be the utmost possible co-operation between the east and west, between Wall Street, if you like, and the farmer.

"The only basis which will save our own markets and our foreign markets in the long run will be the basis of efficient and economical production. Is it not possible that farming must be conceived of in a far more scientific way?"

"Certainly one of the most hopeful signs of the times has been the growth of co-operative marketing organizations among farmers, and particularly fruit growers. The fruit growers of the Pacific coast have shown to industry what, it seems to me, are the lines along which industry, in the long run, in its marketing methods, will have to proceed if it is to be permanently successful."

"My suggestion is, therefore, that all of us—heads of industries, farmers, bankers, Wall Street men and ranchers—all of us, get together with the determination to work out these difficult problems to the end that both the farmer and the industrialists continue to prosper."

"There is plenty of oil in sight" says a petroleum expert. Yes, we can see it on every road and beach.

Strong Arm is Needed

San Bernardino Sun
After an inspection tour of the Canadian and Mexican borders, Harry E. Hull, commissioner general of Immigration, says that the former is lined with persons seeking to gain illegal entrance to this country. The Mexican border is not so crowded with would-be residents of the United States, because it is less easy to reach, but there are many there also. They are so eager to get in and avail themselves of every opportunity, that some of them have been caught crawling along the girders of the Niagara Falls suspension bridge. Mr. Hull says the force at the service of the immigration bureau is utterly inadequate to handle the situation.

These bootleg immigrants are persons who were unable to secure a passport to enter the country. This may have been because the quota for their country was full, or because they were individually declared ineligible for American citizenship under the definition of the law. If the latter we absolutely do not want them. If the former, they show poor qualification for American citizenship when they are willing to break the law to acquire it. Under the quotas established by the immigration law we are getting about a quarter of a million a year, and that is enough. It is too many unless we have more individual selectivity than is now practiced.

Labor Commissioner Davis urges as the only preventive of illegal immigration and the sneaking into this country of anarchists, criminals and other undesirable, an alien registration law. He would require every alien not already a citizen, to register, recording his name, place of birth, age, what ship he came on, what port he landed at, and other details of identification. He would then be given a certificate. Like certificates would also be given every immigrant henceforth at his port of entry. After the time for registration had lapsed, every alien not possessing such a certificate would be assumed to be in the country illegally and would be deported. Also all detected in making false statements at the time of registration would be deported. This system is so un-American in spirit, and so like the rigid personal supervision given foreigners in many European lands, particularly Russia and Germany, that it is not likely to become rapidly popular. Yet it seems to be the only practicable way to get rid of undesirable now here and to prevent others coming, and we may adopt it in time.

Chance and Research

Oakland Tribune
"Accidents will happen," it is said, as they have been in the custom of doing from time immemorial. And yet, sometimes, good results accrue therefrom.

A case in point. At Catalina the other day a painter accidentally toppled over a five-gallon bucket of paint while engaged in spraying the holts above the ore bins there. Irregularities were soon discovered by the flotation men in the process of separating the mineral concentrates, and upon ascertaining the cause the painter was promptly and roundly scolded.

On checking up the "recoveries" that day, however, it was found that an increase from the average of 36 per cent for the tailings being run through had increased to 48 per cent, a gain in dollars and cents of $30 per ton or $110 for the day's run.

It appears that the kerosene and linseed oil in the paint had precipitated the troublesome iron pyrites which experts had long tried in vain to eliminate.

This accidental kicking over of the bucket, it is said, will increase the net profits of the mill approximately $50,000.

Glaze is popularly supposed to have revealed its secret early in the race's upward climb through a fortuitous chance also. And many similar cases, perhaps, could be instanced.

Modern science and industry, however, do not place reliance on chance. Careful, painstaking research is the order of the day. Research is the modern watchword.

SUN'S RAYS FOR TUBERCULAR MUST BE GIVEN CAREFULLY

The emphasis which advisers in health matters place on the use of sunlight for the promotion of a sound body has, no doubt, caused many to expose themselves unduly to the sun's rays.

Those who use this medium regularly in the treatment of tuberculosis in the southwestern portions of the United States are careful, however, to avoid the giving of overdoses of this remedy. Dr. Samuel H. Watson of Tucson, Ariz., reports several instances in which misinformed patients have exposed the entire surface of the body to a combination of the United States are careful, however, to result in most instances.

The use of sunlight in the treatment of tuberculosis has been most widely developed in Switzerland by Rollier, who outlined a definite plan for beginning the treatment with slight exposure of portions of the body, gradually increased as the skin of the patient becomes sufficiently tanned to establish resistance. Patients must be individualized just as they are in connection with any other method of medical treatment. There seems to be no doubt that tuberculous infections outside the lungs respond most promptly and easily to sunlight treatment. But infections of the lung must be divided into classes according to the amount of lung tissue that may be involved, and the nature of the infection.

With these facts in mind, the physician is able to outline for the patient the amount of treatment that he may take as a beginning experiment.

Then the patient is regularly studied as to whether or not he develops increase in temperature, collapse or other symptoms, following the treatment, and the dosage is definitely regulated in relation to this response.

In many instances, the presence of fever is considered an absolute contraindication to the use of the sun treatment. Others use the method experimentally, sometimes with good results.

The important fact to remember is that the sunlight is a powerful agency, and that it is no more to be considered a matter for self-treatment than are powerful and poisonous drugs used by physicians to advantage in properly selected cases.

Love of Home and Country

Charles Dickens, In The Old Curiosity Shop

The ties that bind the wealthy and proud to home may be forged on earth, but those which link the poor man to his humble hearth are of the true metal and bear the stamp of Heaven!

The man of high descent may love the halls and lands of his inheritance as a part of himself, as trophies of his birth and power; His associations with them are associations of pride and wealth and triumph. The poor man's attachment to the tenement which he holds, which strangers have held before, and may tomorrow occupy again, has a worthier root struck deep into purer soil. His household goods are of flesh and blood, with no alloy of silver, gold or precious stones. He has no property but in the affections of his own heart; and when they endear bare floors and walls; despite rags and old and scanty meals, that man has his love of home from God, and his rude hut becomes a solemn place.

Oh, if those who rule the destinies of nations would but remember this—if they would but think how hard it is for the very poor to have engendered in their hearts that love of home from which all domestic virtues spring, when they live in dense and squalid masses where social decency is lost, or rather never found—if they would but turn aside from the wide thoroughfares and great houses and strive to improve the wretched dwellings in byways where only poverty may walk—many low roofs would point more truly to the sky than the loftiest church steeple that now rears proudly up from the midst of guilt and crime and horrible disease, to mock them by its contrast.

In love of home, the love of country has its rise; and who are the truer patriots or the best in time of need—those who venerate the land, owning its wood, and stream, and earth, and all that they produce, or those who love their country, boasting not a foot of ground in all its wide domain?

Worth While Verse

RAIN

The wind has swung to the east at last,
And mares' tails streak the sky;
There's a tang of salt in the sullen air.
And the smug, fat robins cry;
And soon the hurrying drops will soothe
The leaves that sun-bruised lie.

The pebbly bed of the drought-stilled brook
Will laugh to a crooning stream,
And dust-dammed pools in the wheel-worn lane
Will flash in the window's beam;
The rhythmic patter on cottage roofs
Will hush to comforting dream.

Fierce gusts will furrow the placid bay
Till it bubbles like frothing yeast;
Snug barns will echo contented stamp
And lowing of sheltered beast;
And the earth will breathe in relief, refreshed,
For the wind has swung to the east.

REASON FOR THANKS

A patronizing young lord was seated opposite a famous scientist at dinner one evening. During a lull in the conversation he adjusted his monocle and leaned toward the scholar.

"Thank you," said Mr. Jones, quietly, "Thank you very much."

Measures on the Ballot

Under this heading, the Register presents information and arguments concerning various measures that are to be voted upon in the November election. Views expressed here may or may not be the views of The Register.

BALLOT PROPOSALS 7 AND 22

Oakland Tribune: Proposal Number Seven on the November ballot would give relief to short line railroads. Number 22 would stimulate the growing of trees in California. The short lines and tall trees have nothing in common save a need for legislative action which will enable them to grow and flourish.

When trees may be grown successfully as crops a great step will be taken in reforestation. It takes a long time for a tree to grow and if that tree is taxed from the moment it appears as a shoot or sapling, tree-growing as a business must contemplate a long period of taxation during which there will be no returns.

Forest men believe that if the growing trees are exempted from taxation a decided stimulus will be given to that movement which would furnish a supply of timber for the future. It is not proposed that the grown tree, the lumber be freed of taxation and the amount paid ultimately will be approximately the same. Under such a plan there would be a larger incentive to plant trees and fewer incentives to clear timber lands for other purposes. What California does with this proposal will be of interest to the forestry experts and timber men of the country. Michigan has found that a similar law is working out as intended.

The short line road is built generally to serve a single purpose. It is sorely needed and poorly patronized. Highways and automobiles have taken away the greater part of the revenues until, one after another, the short lines expire. Their story is told in rusted rails and rotten ties.

It is proposed in Number 7 to reduce the tax on the short line roads of 250 miles and less from seven per cent to 5-1-4 per cent, which would give them that equalization in taxation which proponents of the King Tax Bill sought to give and found to be legally impossible. Those who have investigated the situation agree that roads of this class are being taxed more than they can bear.

RACE TRACK BILL DANGEROUS MEASURE

San Bernardino Sun: Voters are told that proposition No. 6 on the ballot at the November election would legalize horse racing. It would do nothing of the kind; horse racing is already legal in California. It would legalize gambling on horse racing.

This proposition is one of the two most dangerous on the ballot. The other is No. 9, designed to repeal the Wright act. The adoption of either would be a blow at the progress of civilization. The repeal of the Wright act would mean that the peace officers of California would retire from the work of enforcing prohibition, leaving that duty exclusively in the hands of federal agents; and federal enforcement of prohibition in Southern California at least has been and still is a farce.

But this is intended to be more of a discussion of the race track gambling measure than of prohibition enforcement. Time has healed some of the wounds the manhood of California suffered in the days, a decade ago, when race track gambling ran uncurbed. The tragedies that followed in the wake of every racing season, however, aroused California to action and race track gambling was outlawed.

But the interests which made money from race track gambling have never given up their hope that the old days would return. In an effort to bribe service men and their friends the framers of the measure provided that a percentage of the receipts from gambling machines shall go to disabled veterans of the World War. But service men everywhere are repudiating the scheme as one in which they are interested.

Gambling would revive horse racing but horse racing is already perfectly legal and always has been. A sport, however, that cannot survive without a gambling feature is not worth saving. If it is necessary to gamble on a race in order to get a "kick" out of the event, there is no justification for the race. California has many forms of amusement—good clean amusements—and the state does not need horse racing, if it must permit gambling in order to get it.

Gambling was one of the worst curses which California had to disavow, and there is continual pressure to break down the bars. Slot machines are gradually gaining a foothold in various sections of the state, even though a state law prohibits them; lotteries are being used to a greater extent for charitable purposes and are even reaching into the commercial field to stimulate trade.

The forces that stand for the moral welfare of the state must be aroused to the dangers of the race track gambling bill. In the large cities there is supposed to be considerable support from the sporting element and from some business interests. The measure could pass if the people do not educate themselves as to the dangers involved.

California Politics

ELECT C. C. YOUNG GOVERNOR

Fresno Republican: The campaign for governor of California, to be settled at the November election, is one that settles itself very easily for the average citizen. There are two contestants for the position, as determined by the recent primaries.

The one is the nominee of the Republican party, C. C. Young. The other is the nominee of the Democratic party, Justus Wardell.

The people of California can make but one good choice for governor, that is in the election of Mr. Young.

Not because he is a Republican. But because the Republican party, in its business of finding nominees for office, brought out and selected a far more fitted man for the position than did the Democrats.

This can be and is said without even implying any discussion of the personal qualifications of Mr. Wardell for public position.

For Mr. Young is qualified by training, by experience, by affiliations with the other men who are to form the legislative organization, as well as by personal principles and viewpoints, as the man for governor.

There is not a plank in the state platform of the Republican party that Mr. Young does not understand fully and sympathize with actively.

Mr. Young is by temperament qualified to lead in a constructive administration of the state, without being radical in any sense. There are, to be sure, among the number of those who have supported Mr. Young for governor men who are far more radical than he, just as there are men that are more conservative than he.

But Mr. Young is in line with the degree of progress that is used for the state by men who know the needs and the capacities of the cities of the state, and at the same time he knows—no one better—how the reasonable advance can be accomplished.

We have a man nominated for governor who is certificated as a competent man for governor. Let's take him, select him, just as we would select any man in private business to do the work that we require.

JUDGE FINLAYSON DESERVES ELECTION

San Bernardino Sun: There is only one political campaign to be determined by the November election that was not voted on at the August primary. Thomas J. Lennon, associate justice of the supreme court, died just in advance of the August primary, the interval between his death and the primary being so brief that it was impossible to arrange for the contest for his place on the bench.

On the November ballot, however, will be the names of the candidates for this office.

Judge F. G. Finlayson has been advanced from the appellate bench, southern district, to succeed Justice Lennon and he will be a candidate at the November election to complete the unexpired term.

Judge Finlayson is well and favorably known in San Bernardino county, and he in turn knows San Bernardino county. While a member of the Los Angeles superior court bench, Judge Finlayson was transferred to San Bernardino county to hear the important San Bernardino-Riverside water suit. He made San Bernardino his home for a number of months, through the medium of the water litigation became intimately acquainted with the history of San Bernardino valley and demonstrated his ability as a keen student of law.

In the present campaign Judge Finlayson has the support of many members of the San Bernardino county bar and of many others of this county who made his acquaintance during his court service here and have followed his judicial career since that time. Judge Finlayson is one of the brilliant jurists of California and well merits election by the people to the supreme court.
